CANTON SOLDIERS RESUME ADVANCE IN NORTHERN AREA

Skirmish With Nanking Troops Raises Anew Threats of Civil War Unless Central Government Resists Japanese.

OUSTER OF CHIANG VIEWED AS MOTIVE

Southerners Demand Entire Nation Be Mobilized, Diplomatic Relations With Tokyo Be Severed.

HONG KONG, June 24.—(AP)—Threats of civil war in China revived today when troops of Kwangsi province (of the Canton southwest regime) were reported to have made a bloodless advance deeper into Hunan province, which is under the protection of the national (central) government at Nanking.

There was a brief skirmish with national government troops in the advance, said advices from Changsha, capital of Hunan. No casualties were reported.

Official circles in Nanking charge Japan has agreed to lend Kwangsi province $5,000,000 Mexican ($1,500,000) to finance her army. The Canton regime was reported to be formulating further demands upon Nanking.

Expulsion Demanded. Newspapers in Nanking, apparently officially inspired, demanded punitive expedition against south China. Reflecting the graver turn of the situation, Canton currency fell in the exchange market.

The demands Canton is formulating are believed really designed to place Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, virtual dictator of the Nanking government, in an embarrassing spot and to win concessions for Canton. Southwestern leaders are bitter political enemies of General Chiang.

These demands were reported being drafted for the agenda of the forthcoming meeting in Nanking of the central executive committee of the

Russell Is Undecided On Return to Session

WINDER, Ga., June 24.—(AP)—Senator Richard B. Russell Jr., who came home from the democratic national convention to be with a brother injured in a motor accident, said tonight he was undecided as to whether he would return to Philadelphia. The brother, Robert Russell, suffered minor cuts and bruises and Mrs. Russell said he hoped to be able to get up and about tomorrow. Robert Russell is a Winder attorney. Senator Russell arrived here late today, going immediately to his brother's home. He said he would decide in the morning whether to go back to the Philadelphia convention. He added that in case of decision to do so he would leave late tomorrow. Russell's car and another car were in a collision Friday between Atlanta and Winder.

Drafting Committee Struggles Throughout the Night in Effort To Agree on Platform.

Text of Robinson's Address in Page 10.

By JOHN F. CHESTER.

CONVENTION HALL, PHILADELPHIA, June 24.—(AP)—Pounding out new and caustic criticism of the supreme court, but touting its decisions final "until reversed," Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, tonight sounded a Roosevelt battle call before a democratic national convention increasingly troubled from within.

Conflict over the party's platform and bitter dissension that delayed action by two of the convention's vital committees ruffled the surface increasingly, although a stubborn delegate contest apparently was settled by compromise.

Throughout the night a drafting committee struggled for a platform agreement, but only meager word of progress came from the guarded conference room. It appeared that money, monopoly, and constitutional issues were making most of the trouble.

Still unsettled, too, was the dispute whether to abandon the old rule requiring two-thirds of a national convention to nominate. Southern opposition to the change had developed unexpected strength and bitterness. A committee vote was postponed until tomorrow.

House Is Packed. Senator Robinson's speech, delivered to a packed house after the doors had been thrown open to the public, occupied nearly all of the night session, although there also was some more parading and cheering before the convention recessed at 10:30 (Atlanta time) until 10 a. m. (Atlanta time) tomorrow.

Local Bank Clearings Top Seven-Year Mark

Bank clearings climbed to $11,800,000 yesterday to reach the highest peak since 1929, it was reported. The total amount of checks drawn on Atlanta banks yesterday doubled the figure on the corresponding day last year, when clearings amounted to $5,900,000. Not within the last seven years have clearing equaled or passed yesterday's figures, according to clearing house officials.

Total clearings for this month promise to exceed $200,000,000 for the first time since the consolidation of major Atlanta banks late in 1929, it was said. The turnover for the first 20 days of the current month set a seven-year high. Last month's clearings totaled $207,200,000.

PRESIDENT ORDERS SHARP-EDGED AX AID FOR FARMERS FALLS AT CAPITOL

Georgia, South Carolina New Comptroller General Demands Resignations of Four Old Employees.

Federal relief for Georgia's drought-stricken farmers was ordered yesterday by President Roosevelt. Resettlement Administrator Rexford G. Tugwell emerged from the White House yesterday with word that some form of help will be decided upon and granted as quickly as possible.

Farmers of South Carolina will also share in the relief, Tugwell reporting that President Roosevelt had recognized the situation as serious in these two sister states, sufferers from stunted corn and cotton crops through a prolonged dearth of rainfall.

While this cheerful message came from Washington to Georgia's distressed farmers, George W. Mindling, chief meteorologist of the Atlanta weather bureau reported that considerable local relief has been given by heavy showers, but he added that "much more rain is still needed to overcome the effects of the hot drought."

Dry, hot weather will return to this section today, according to Mindling, the cool spell ending during last night with the clearing of the skies and no rain in sight on the weather maps. Temperatures which rose from 63 degrees to 82 yesterday, will rise from 64 to 84 degrees today with conditions favoring a steady return to midsummer weather.

Tugwell, in reporting the results of his conference with President Roosevelt yesterday, said: "The situation in South Carolina and Georgia is serious. They have been getting some rain lately but for six weeks prior to that the weather has been so dry that their corn and cotton crops have not amounted to much."

The latest rainfall in Georgia fell early yesterday morning. Overnight rainfall was measured at .44 of an inch in Atlanta. Columbus, one of

Robert Slated for Secretaryship Of Democratic National Committee

Atlantan Silent on Probability of Assuming Post; Farley Visits Rose-Adorned Delegation To Congratulate Clark Howell and Mrs. Price.

By L. A. FARRELL, Constitution Staff Writer. CONVENTION HALL, PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 24.—Georgia will have an important place in the new set-up of the reorganized national committee with L. W. (Chip) Robert, of Atlanta, being the new committee secretary. It was understood here today.

Robert, who recently resigned as an assistant secretary of the treasury, at the Philadelphia convention, if, as slated, he takes over the secretaryship of the committee, he will succeed W. Forbes Morgan, who will move to the treasuryship of the committee.

The Atlantan today declined to discuss the probability of his assuming the post, but it was learned he will meet with the new committee when it organizes at the close of the convention. He is a close personal friend of the committee chairman, James A. Farley, who is understood to be moving his selection as secretary.

The selection of Robert as the committee secretary would mean that next to Chairman Farley he would be in charge of campaign headquarters in New York, probably assuming direct charge of the office of the organization.

Robert, a football star at Georgia Tech several decades ago, is in the en-

JOSEPH RAINE DIES IN LEXINGTON, KY.

S. E. Underwriters' Secretary Was Leader in Fire Insurance Field.

Joseph S. Raine, nationally-known insurance executive and prominent Atlanta citizen, died early yesterday morning in a hospital at Lexington, Ky., at the age of 60 years.

TWO-THIRDS RULE VOTE IS DELAYED

Southerners Split on Issue; Cox Leads Fight To Keep Present Set-Up.

PHILADELPHIA, June 24.—(AP)—The south, despite a break in its ranks, nevertheless rallied enough strength tonight to force over until tomorrow the decision by the democratic convention rules committee to change the party's historic requirement of a two-thirds vote of the convention to nominate.

So strong were the demands for time for an extended debate, topped with the appeal that if the two-thirds rule be discarded those states which are historically and predominantly democratic should be given more delegates, that the rules committee recessed overnight and arranged for an hour's debate on the question in the morning.

Southerners Split. Southern spokesmen took part on both sides of the argument. A Texan, Beaman Strong, contended if the change were made representation in the convention should be arranged on a basis of the number of democratic votes in each state rather than on the basis of population as at present.

But a North Carolinian—Chairman Doughton, of the house ways and means committee—came back with an argument for the change.

"The very essence of democracy is majority rule, not minority rule, nor group rule, nor group control," he said.

Joining the Texan in his argument against changing the rule were Representative Cox, of Georgia; Governor Bibb Graves, of Alabama; Governor James V. Alfred, of Texas; Mrs. Horace K. Wells, of Florida; S. C. Maybank, of South Carolina, and Aubrey G. Weaver, of Virginia.

The endeavor to change the rule brought into line with Doughton, Martin Smith, of Washington State; Leo P. Fox, of Wisconsin; John J. Beckman, of Oregon, and Edward J. Daly, of Connecticut.

Clark Heads Group. At the head of the committee, as the arguments were poured out, stood Senator Clark, of Missouri, a son of the man from whom Woodrow Wilson wrested the nomination in 1912 although Champ Clark obtained a majority vote of the convention.

The motion to change the two-thirds rule to one requiring only a majority vote was made by Fox and seconded by Harvey S. Fields, of Louisiana.

Southern members, however, served notice that several opponents—not

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those nagging, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking acids and wastes out of the blood. A healthy person should pass about 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 8 pounds of waste matter. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, waste stays in the body and may become a real danger. It may start nagging backaches, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't let it lay you up. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills—used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills.

SPORTSMAN REPORTS $400,000 GEM THEFT

Long Island Home Looted by Burglar; No Tangible Clue Found.

NEW YORK, June 24.—(AP)—Residents of Long Island's exclusive North Shore guarded their jewel boxes tonight following a $400,000 burglary at the palatial country home of William Robertson Coe, sportsman and capitalist.

Coe told police he awoke this morning to find a prowler had stripped his own and his wife's bedroom of jewelry and other valuables during the night. The loot, all of which was insured, included a pearl necklace valued by Coe at $300,000.

District Attorney Martin W. Little and Police Inspector Harold R. Ring questioned 41 persons employed on the Coe estate, including nine house servants, without obtaining a tangible clue. They expressed a conviction it was not an "inside job."

Inspector King said the burglar, apparently working alone, had eluded private watchmen and gained the roof of a porch outside Coe's bedroom window by scaling a 30-foot concrete pillar. Once on the roof, the intruder cut a hole through a screen door and entered the rooms where Mr. and Mrs. Coe were sleeping.

Without awakening the occupants, he ransacked both of their rooms. All of the jewelry, including the pearl necklace, a smaller necklace valued at $38,000, a diamond ring also valued at $38,000, and a $28,000 diamond and platinum wedding ring, was taken from a dresser drawer, where it had been packed in two silk bags. From Coe's room the prowler took $625 in cash, a $500 gold clock, and a $300 cigarette case.

YOUTH IS CONVICTED ON SLAYING CHARGE

TAYLORSVILLE, N. C., June 24.—(AP)—A jury convicted Willard Teague, 19, of manslaughter today for killing his father, who, he said, often abused him.

He will be sentenced tomorrow. The youth testified he shot his father, Porter Teague, when he advanced on him with an ax. Young Teague said he had decided to leave home to get away from his father's ill-treatment of him and that his father found out about it. He said his father had often beat, cuffed and man-handled him. His mother and other members of the family corroborated most of his testimony.

STATE DEATHS

MISS MARY MACFARLAND. LAGRANGE, Ga., June 24.—Miss Mary Alice MacFarland, 62, died at her home here Monday and funeral services were held yesterday at the First Baptist church, with Dr. Willis E. Howard, pastor, officiating. Interment was in Hillview cemetery.

A native of LaGrange, Miss MacFarland was for many years teacher in the LaGrange public school system, and had more recently held a position as teacher in the LaGrange Opportunity school until ill health forced her to retire a few months ago.

She was an active member of the First Baptist church and was prominently identified with the work of the local chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. Surviving are a brother, Charles MacFarland; six nieces, Mrs. E. B. Richards, Mrs. Walton Nussbaum, Mrs. Gordon Dewart, Miss Jessie MacFarland, Miss Janet MacFarland and Miss Alice MacFarland, all of Savannah.

A. J. TUTEN ANNOUNCES FOR CONGRESS POST CONVERGE IN ATHENS

Former Senator Seeks Place Held by Deen in 8th District.

ALMA, Ga., June 24.—Andrew J. Tuten, clerk of the state senate during the last session, and former senator from the fourth district, today announced his candidacy for congress from the eighth district.

Braswell Dean, of Alma, is the present congressman from this district. Tuten, who is a native of Pierce county, is a graduate of the Douglas Normal College and of Mercer University. He was admitted to the bar in 1917, and served in the navy during the World War, and was later judge of the city court of Alma and served as state senator from 1933 to 1935, being a member of several important committees.

He is a member of the Baptist church, is a member of the American Legion, and a Mason and a Shriner.

Announces Candidacy

"Upon the solicitation of many friends from every county in the eighth congressional district and after due consideration, I announce my candidacy for congress believing that a candidate who has been elected upon a specific platform and upon whom the people have a direct mandate from the people, and who so elected, he should keep faith with the people and abide by such platform and promises which should be held sacred by the representative of the people, the democratic party which has been in power for the last four years should have enabled any true democratic party to the south to do every 'it' and cross every 'it' in his platform and fulfill his solemn pledges. Not so with the representative of the eighth district of Georgia, who has disavowed his platform and his solemn promises except to a favored few. It is a representative cannot enact into law one plank in his platform and yet expect the people to take him to exact 80¢ Such mathematics confuse me.

"During the democratic administration, as well as at all times, our great section of Georgia is entitled to and should have representation in the congress equal to any section of our common country, but the incumbent has failed or was unable to recognize this fact. It was the people of the people of the district to be able to represent the district in the congress because they nominated a distinguished attorney and a man but for reasons unknown to me, the incumbent failed to do so. The campaign will be pitched upon a high plane but an aggressive plan and I shall carry the fight down to the very end. A congressman being a servant of the people, I believe they should, at all times, be acquainted with his record. This is a part of my duty in this campaign, and I will not be deterred by any grade and entitled to know the principles for which I stand. I shall, also, acquaint them upon the stump.

"I shall immediately qualify by paying the entrance fee which will be paid from my bonus for service rendered in the World War. I will open my campaign at Black Point, S. C., on Saturday, June 27, and will continue my campaign in every county in the district."

UNITED HELD AT ROME FOR DROWNING VICTIM

S. street. The services were conducted by Rev. Will Turner and interment was in Antioch cemetery.

Efforts to rescue the boy, Eugene Fowler, came near resulting fatally for him. James Adams, another young boy in swimming at the same time, who became frightened and nearly drowned, was rescued by R. B. Lively, who lives near the scene on lower East Eighth avenue. The body of young Dougherty was not found until yesterday morning.

The boy is survived by his father, W. M. Dougherty, of River avenue; two brothers, Howard and Chandler Eugene Dougherty; a sister, Margaret Louise Dougherty; his grandmothers, Mrs. Emma Jackson and Mrs. Julia Dougherty, all of Rome. VINSON AND PETERSON LAUDED FOR SERVICES

Roosevelt Regime Praised by Democrats at Macon and Sylvania.

By the Associated Press.

The first congressional district democratic executive committee praised President Roosevelt's administration at Sylvania yesterday, shortly after a similar expression came from the sixth district committee, meeting in Macon.

In both instances, the committees met in Newnan, and the tenth district committee in Elberton, today.

J. Ellsworth Hall, of Macon, chairman of the sixth district committee, was unable to attend the meeting there due to illness, but he sent a message praising Congressman Carl Vinson and President Roosevelt.

The message also declared "President Roosevelt cannot and will not be hindered by any red galluses or any brown derby." The reference apparently was to Governor Talmadge, of Georgia, who made red suspenders a campaign emblem, and to former Governor Alfred E. Smith, of New York, who wears a brown derby. Hall's message said Al Smith "has been bewitched along with the other discontents."

The first district committee at Sylvania adopted a resolution praising the work of Congressman Hugh Peterson, of Alley. "We hereby endorse the record made by Congressman Peterson, and commend him for his attention to duty, his devotion to his people, and his tireless efforts to be of benefit to the nation at large," the resolution said.

The committee's resolution concerning President Roosevelt said his administration "brought our country forth from the depths of depression, has restored confidence in business, banking and agriculture, and has saved our homes, our farms and our banks, and has been instrumental in the work of Congress."

SILENCE SURROUNDS BAWSEL DEATH PROBE

Disclosure of Further Information Awaits Arrival of Transport Tomorrow.

NEW YORK, June 24.—(P)—The army information service indicated today that the disclosure of further information regarding the deaths of Captain Lindsay M. Bawsel and his three children, lost at sea from the transport Chateau Thierry, must await arrival of the ship on Friday.

A brief wireless last night said the bodies had not been recovered and that the captain's widow, Mrs. Ellen F. Bawsel, was aboard. The first report received yesterday said the captain and children were swept overboard Monday in a hurricane.

Later Charles Bawsel, the captain's brother, said he received word in Atlanta from the widow that the captain drowned when he jumped overboard to save his children. An investigation was being conducted aboard the ship, en route here from Panama.

Attractive Atlantans Sell F. D. R. Nominator Tickets

State Democrats To Oversubscribe $100,000 Roosevelt Drive Quota

Georgia democrats will oversubscribe its $100,000 quota in the Roosevelt nominators' drive, it was announced yesterday by Jere A. Wells, chairman of the fifth district campaign for $20,000, continued his efforts for this section of the state.

Albert S. Hardy, general state chairman, yesterday expressed confidence that by the time President Roosevelt accepts the nomination of the party at 9 o'clock (Atlanta time) Saturday night, the $100,000 will have been oversubscribed and that Georgia will have set a mark for other loyal Roosevelt states of the Union to shoot at.

Wells called special attention to the general district meeting which will take place at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the city hall, and urged all those interested to attend.

Two Booths Opened.

In the interim, two booths were opened in downtown Atlanta for sale of the tickets to the mammoth Roosevelt mobilization at Ponce de Leon park at 7 o'clock Saturday night. One is at Five Points in the heart of Atlanta and the other at the Henry Grady monument at Marietta and Forsyth streets. In addition, tickets can be obtained from hundreds of persons throughout the city, from the city hall, Fulton county courthouse, the Henry Grady hotel and many other places.

Wells stressed yesterday the two-hour entertainment program prepared to precede the acceptance address of the President. Beginning at 7 o'clock the program will continue until 9 o'clock, when the acceptance speech will be received by the large amplifiers at the park and sent to every corner of the field.

More than 20,000 persons are expected to be present, and Wells said yesterday that the largest crowd ever gathered for any public address in Atlanta is anticipated.

The local gathering will be a part of the nation-wide mobilization of democrats. Similar meetings have been arranged for every state in the Union. More than 10,000 persons will attend throughout the nation, if plans of those in charge are consummated.

16,000 Tickets Distributed.

Wells and Mrs. Z. V. Peterson, co-chairman of the fifth district organization, yesterday had distributed 16,000 of the 20,000 tickets allotted to the fifth district. Four thousand are held in reserve, and it is expected that the 16,000 will be sold before tomorrow night.

Dr. Charles R. Adams, chairman of the Fulton County Commission, yesterday called on county workers to support the movement 100 per cent.

When you support this drive, you make a contribution to humanity," Dr. Adams told a mass meeting of county employees. "What would the county have done if there had been no federal works administration? We have had to deal directly with federal authorities because of the fact that the state administration estranged itself, but we have found federal officials most sympathetic with our problems."

"The democratic party is not seeking large contributions from individuals who will want something in return," Wells said. "This ticket sale is the way the national party hopes to raise at least $3,000,000 to carry Mr. Roosevelt's fight into doubtful states. This is the only campaign being waged by the national party, and Georgia and the fifth district are going to do their full duty."

Ticket Sale Urged.

"Loyal democrats are anxious to have a part in this campaign. Take these tickets and see your friends. There is only a short time left. Work for these next two days as you never did before for the party and for Mr. Roosevelt."

J. A. Harper, president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades and chairman of the Roosevelt nominator labor group committee here, last night announced more than 4,000 rally tickets had been distributed in organizations in the Atlanta area affiliated with the Atlanta federation and the railroad brotherhood.

Presiding at the meeting of the Atlanta Federation of Trades in the Labor Temple, Harper outlined plans for the Roosevelt nominator tickets and urged all members of labor groups to buy tickets in time for the fifth district Roosevelt rally here Saturday night.

Roosevelt nominator tickets are on sale by the federation at the custodian's office of the Labor Temple and at the southeastern headquarters of the American Federation of Labor, Room 349, Hurt building.

Walter C. Caraway, official of the Atlanta Federation of Trades and courthouse employee, told those assembled at the meeting that the labor movement had joined in sale of the tickets to the mobilization and that 5,000 of them are being placed through city and county agencies.

Several other pledged their full support and many additional tickets were distributed by Wells and his staff.

Senator G. Everett Millican, chairman of the Fulton county drive, who has been out of the city for several days, will return this morning and will join Wells and others in the whirlwind windup of the campaign.

Atlanta police yesterday subscribed more than $300 to the fund. Ryburn Clay, president of the Fulton National Bank, took a check of 100 tickets and paid $100 for them.

Hardy was notified that Wilcox county will raise its $285 quota by giving a dance with Mrs. W. P. Durham, of Abbeville, and W. T. Standard, of Rochelle, in charge.

R. L. Dickey, of Musella, Crawford county, yesterday attended a meeting of the sixth district campaign group at Macon, and announced that Crawford county has raised its quota. The district meeting passed a resolution pledging its whole-hearted support to the movement and promised to go over the top.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS NAMED BY GEORGIANS

Resolution Memorizing
Major John S. Cohen Presented to Convention.

By GLENN RAMSEY.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 24.—(P)—With Chairman Marion Allen and Vice Chairman J. J. Spalding absent, Representative E. E. Cox presided at a quickly called caucus of the Georgia delegation today when it was discovered the group had failed to elect representatives to three convention committees. The error was revealed when the time came for formally naming committee members from the convention floor.

H. T. McIntosh, editor of the Albany Herald, was named on the committee on permanent organization.

Arthur Lucas, Atlanta, and Mrs. A. B. Conger, Bainbridge, are on the committee to notify the presidential nominee, and J. W. Woodruff, Columbus, and Mrs. J. A. Rollison, Waycross, on the committee to notify the vice presidential nominee.

There were "rebel yells" from the Georgia and other southern delegations today when "Dixie" was given the honor place as the song to start off the day's session of the convention.

A resolution memorializing the late Major John S. Cohen, president and editor of the Atlanta Journal and for a number of years national committeeman from Georgia, was presented tonight to the democratic national convention.

Walter F. George, senior senator from Georgia, presented the memorial. Senator W. G. McAdoo, of California, a former Georgian and personal friend of Major Cohen, seconded the resolution.

The idea of having the national convention memorialize the former democratic leader in Georgia, who served for a short time in the senate, was conceived by his close friend, Lucas.

Thomas J. Hamilton, editor of the Augusta Chronicle and postmaster there, made the first draft of the resolution. Hamilton also was one of the major's intimate friends among the newspapermen of the state.

Representative Frank Wheelchel, of Gainesville, sat with the delegation for a short time today. It was the first time he had appeared on the convention floor.

Mrs. Susie T. Moore, national committeewoman, whose place will be filled for the next four years by Mrs. Virginia Polhill Price, Louisville, weekly newspaper publisher, sat on the platform with other members of the national committee.

JAPANESE, AMERICAN FACE ESPIONAGE COURT

LOS ANGELES, June 24.—(P)—A man identified as "Toshio Miyazaki, a lieutenant commander in the Japanese navy," and a former petty officer in the United States navy were indicted by the federal grand jury today on charges of conspiring to violate the espionage act.

The other man indicted was Harry Thompson, Thibodaux, formerly of the United States navy.

Action of the grand jury climaxed a long and intensive investigation. Naval authorities said they believed Miyazaki is now in the Orient. Thompson is serving a county jail sentence here following his conviction on charges of illegally wearing a naval uniform.

The indictment was returned before Federal Judge L. R. Yankwich. He set bond at $10,000 each.

Department of Justice Agents, naval intelligence officers and deputy United States marshals were provided with warrants for the arrest of Miyazaki.

Copies of the indictment were immediately forwarded to Washington, District of Columbia.

HAMILTON CLAIMS 'SOLID SOUTH' VOTES

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The London-Knox ticket will not only carry every state west of the Mississippi, but will break into the solid south heavily, the youthful John D. M. Hamilton, chairman of the republican national committee, confidently predicted here today at his first press conference with Washington newsmen.

Asked what states south of the Mason Dixon line his party would corral in the fall elections, Chairman Hamilton said it was a bit early to be specific but that some folk might be surprised at the strength the G. O. P. would show in Dixie.

"Will you carry Florida?" asked one skeptical scribbler.

"Well, I don't know," he hedged the red-headed boss of the "Coolidge of Kansas," but I now figure we will carry two or three states in the south land. Things have happened in this country since our Cleveland capture of which I am afraid you boys are not yet familiar."

2 BOYS DROWNED IN CHATTAHOOCHEE

Negro Loses Life Trying To Save Brother; Poss Still Missing.

The Chattahoochee river yesterday afternoon claimed two more lives while the river was still being dragged for a victim who, it is believed, drowned Monday.

Two negro boys, brothers, were drowned yesterday a short distance above the Bolton bridge where Peachtree creek flows into the river. According to Fulton county police, who are searching for the bodies, Joseph Cooper, 13, one of the victims, was wading in Peachtree creek at its entrance to the river when he stepped off a 20-foot drop. As the boy could not swim, his brother, George Cooper, 15, dived into the water to rescue him and both were swept into the river and drowned.

The boys had been picking berries with their mother, who lives at Innan Yards, police were told. When the boys were drawn under the surface of the water the mother summoned the aid of Hillman Greer, employe at a near-by cafe, who called county police.

The river was being dragged late yesterday for the bodies by County Officers Marion Riley and L. C. Clay, who are also aiding in the search for the body of W. C. Post, 22, who is believed to have committed suicide by drowning himself in the river Monday a short distance from the spot where the negro boys were drowned yesterday.

Democrats Find Party Convention Turned Into Vaudeville Matinee

Eddie Dowling Acts as Master of Ceremonies as Delegates Hear Torch Singers and Joke Tellers; Noted Singer Lauds Roosevelt.

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN.
CONVENTION HALL, PHILADELPHIA, June 24.—(UP)—Ten thousand democrats swarmed in here today to discover that their national convention had become a 10-act vaudeville matinee, featuring by a trio of beautiful torch singers.

There was a master of ceremonies, some joke tellers, a dramatic baritone, and all the other features of the old Orpheum circuit—except some acrobats to close the bill.

The performance probably would have given Thomas Jefferson the willies, but his political descendants found it to their liking. They were tired of a constant barrage of oratory and restless from the reading of a lot of committee members' names.

They stopped squirming when Chairman Alben Barkley introduced the Hon. Eddie Dowling, vaudevillean and comedian, who had his troupe of hot-cha girls handy. These were fancy lookers, particularly so to the delegates, who haven't seen much in the way of femininity lately except straight-laced women politicians reading speeches.

The moon-faced Eddie started the festivities with a monologue about Al Smith and his fellow bolters. Eddie called them the contestants in a bun-ion derby, now approaching Yonkers, with a first prize for the winner of two empty floors in the Empire State building.

Dowling's first act consisted of the luscious-looking Princess Lushan Mobley, Chickasha contralto, who wore two thick braids of hair, a doe-skin dress and a big smile. She sang "Indian Love Call" with appropriate gestures, which the democrats found to their liking. Then she obliged with "The Waters of Manhattan." The delegates didn't know exactly what she was singing about, but it sounded soothing. That, after all, was the principal thing.

"Now the next performer I am about to introduce," intoned Eddie, "is a young man with a golden voice, which will lift you right out of your seats."

The delegates hung on tight, while Bob Mack warbled something about a fellow who didn't have any song to sing. Some of the customers went outside and drank root beer as a toast to the songless hero.

"Come on now," demanded Eddie, straightening his plaid bow tie. "Let's give Bob Mack a great big hand."

The democrats obeyed and Dowling rewarded them with a series of radio performers, who told funny stories. They included H. V. Kaltenborn, Gabriel Heister, Johnny Kennedy, Carlton Smith, Boske Carter and Lowell Thomas, all of whom went out of their way to announce they surely did like democracy. The democrats returned the compliment with cheers.

A blonde little trick in a periwinkle costume to match her eyes sang a sad ballad about how love is the only thing which stays young. Eddie said her name was Charlotte Gridley. The democrats didn't recognize her; the spotlights were on the blink and they couldn't see.

"And now I want to introduce you to the first woman ever elected to the United States senate," Dowling said. "She is Mrs. Hattie Caraway. Stand up, Mrs. Caraway. Stand up! Now, isn't that a thrill?"

Mrs. Caraway, for one, didn't look thrilled. She stood up, smiled faintly, bowed and sat down.

Here came the big climax of the program, full-lipped, red-dressed, sultry-eyed Helen Hughes, who put sex appeal into a ditty about the eggs in her basket. For every egg, there was a cheer for Helen.

Following her came Jack Kelly, Philadelphia politician, called by Dowling the dogwoodest, handsomest man ever to lift the banner for democracy. Kelly told how he'd visited the republican convention in Cleveland.

He said he couldn't understand why the delegates there gave Herbert Hoover a 15-minute demonstration when he arrived and at 32-minute ovation when he left.

That ended the show, except for a speech by Dowling about how President Roosevelt had put 8,000 actors to work with the WPA.

"You can call it boondoggling, if you want," Eddie said. "But these ladies and gentlemen would have starved had it not been for the man in the White House, Mr. Roosevelt. I thank you!"

At the same time, Robert P. Scripps announced the selection of William W. Hawkins, general manager, to succeed Howard as chairman. The announcement said:

"Mr. Howard, as second largest stockholder, continues as chairman of the executive committee and as president and editor of the New York World-Telegram."

Mr. Scripps made it clear that there will be no change in the position of George B. Parker, editor-in-chief in direct charge of editorial policy.

Although Lake Superior is the deepest of the Great Lakes, Lake Michigan is the largest with a total area of 22,400 square miles, according to the latest survey by the war department.

Wins Nomination

FRED P. CONE.

CONE WINS NOMINATION BY RECORD MAJORITY

Republican Gubernatorial Candidate Asks Him To Share Platform.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 24.—(AP)—Fred P. Cone, of Lake City, who won the democratic gubernatorial nomination yesterday by a majority of more than 80,000 votes over Judge Raleigh Pettaway, of Tampa, started gunning for the republicans today.

He expressed complete confidence he would be elected governor over E. E. Callaway, of Lakeland, the republican candidate, in the November general election.

Unofficial reports from all but 11 scattered precincts in yesterday's runoff primary gave Cone 186,413 to Pettaway's 125,651.

Cone was runner-up to the Tampa judge in the 14-candidate first primary contest June 2 when Pettaway failed to pull the majority vote required for nomination.

Cone's majority is the second greatest in the history of democratic primaries in this state.

Representative R. A. Green, of Starke, won renomination in the second congressional district and Joe Hendricks, 31-year-old Deland attorney, got the nomination in the new fifth district. Colin English, 40, Ocala school principal, was nominated state superintendent of public instruction.

Callaway today congratulated Cone and invited the democrat to accompany him as his guest on a tour so that they might speak from the same platform during the campaign.

Cone said he would be glad to share speaking time with Callaway and to debate with him but could see no good from a joint campaign tour.

NEW VOTERS BACK RECOVERY POLICY
Youth for 'New Deal' by Majority of 2 to 1, Poll Shows.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Persons who have come of voting age since the Hoover-Roosevelt election are substantially in favor of the recovery policies of the administration, their ballots reveal in a nation-wide poll being conducted by the American Institute of Public Opinion.

The institute is sampling opinion among all classes of voters, and the ballots from young voters were distributed in proportion to their numbers in the voting population of each state.

Asked, "Are the acts of the present administration helping or hindering recovery?" young voters mark their ballots—

67 "Helping."
33 "Hindering."

Complete tabulations next Sunday will report public opinion throughout the country, among members of the different parties, on this issue.

Institute of Public Opinion polls are published exclusively in The Constitution.

King of Wheat Pit Dies

ARTHUR W. CUTTEN.

ARTHUR W. CUTTEN, 66, WHEAT PIT KING, DIES

Former $7-a-Week Clerk Became One of Century's Greatest Speculators.

CHICAGO, June 24.—(AP)—Death early today ended the spectacular career of Arthur W. Cutten, 66, "Little Giant of the Wheat Pit," who rose from a $7-a-week clerk to international fame as one of the greatest speculators of the century.

He died from a heart attack in his lake-side hotel apartment early this morning with his wife, the former Maude Boomer, of Chicago, beside him. They had no children.

Funeral services were arranged for Thursday afternoon with Bishop George Craig Stewart officiating. A committee of 19 members was appointed to represent the Board of Trade.

Cutten's favorite trading spot and scene of his most widely heralded coups. Burial will be Friday at the little Cathedral of the Good Shepherd, where the famed trader was born and which had been a recipient of his benefactions.

Confined to his apartment for months by a heart ailment, Cutten had announced a month ago his retirement from the market activities in which he had won a fortune estimated as high as $10,000,000 and lost almost as rapidly—but not so heavily that he was unable to recoup later—when the stock slump caught him on the wrong side.

Determination to an unusual degree and singleness of purpose marked the career of Cutten. As a youth he was firm in his rise of his fellow Gaelic native, James J. Hill, the railroad king, to ambition which carried him to Chicago at the age of 20. From a $7-a-week clerk he plunged on until he acquired a membership on the Board of Trade. Then for 30 years he was an active operator there, always keeping his own counsel and directing his huge deals from an obscure little office.

POPE SEES UPTURN IN EVIL CUSTOMS
17 Cardinals and 250 Bishops Hear Head of Catholic Church.

VATICAN CITY, June 24.—(AP)—Pope Pius told members of his hierarchy today evil customs are "increasing frightfully."

"Often," he said, they come "in the guise of art, amusement and modernity."

They insinuate, he added "dangerous germs into the people which attack the sobriety of customs, the observance of divine and human laws, the sanctity and fecundity of the family and the innocence of youth."

Speaking to the 17 cardinals and 250 bishops who gathered to congratulate him on his recent entrance into his 80th year, his holiness charged them to persevere in their labor for "perfection and diffusion of religious teachings and various initiatives for the education of the youth and the people."

The pope recalled the enthusiastic demonstration of Catholic action when he celebrated his 79th birthday and urged the prelates to work with that lay organization "carefully and precisely" for the defense of morality.

That, he said, is the "treasure castle of national prosperity."

During the day the holy father named the Rev. Marion S. Garriga, of San Antonio, Texas, to be coadjutor bishop with right of succession to Bishop Emmanuel B. Ledvina, of Corpus Christi, Texas.

Roosevelt To Face Hard Campaign, Declares Convention Commentator

Samuel Blythe Asserts That Real News of Meeting Is That "Republican Man Has Bitten Dominant Democratic Dog."

By SAMUEL G. BLYTHE.
(Copyright, 1936, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

PHILADELPHIA, June 24.—The oldest of the journalistic clichés, and there are many old ones, is attributed to Charles A. Dana, the famous editor of the New York Sun, and is "If a dog bites a man that isn't news, but if a man bites a dog that is news."

Probably Eddie Riggs, or Julian Ralph, or Jersey Chamberlain, it isn't news, but that is neither here nor there. The bearing of the cliché, at the moment, to paraphrase Cap'n Cuttle, rests on the application of it.

It isn't news when the democratic party, in national convention assembled, bites the republican party, but when the republican party, held by all the democrats to be toothless and senile and decrepit since the debacle of 1932, rushes vigorously out into the political arena and does a rather effective job of biting the democrats, that is news.

Not, of course, that there was any biting done here, on the spot where a hundred microphones constantly howl to the passerby on the streets, and the multitudes in the great convention hall, that the salvation of the country rests with the indorsement and continuation of the New Deal and its present exponents. Not at all.

The rock-ribbed republicans of the city gathered in their citadel of republicanism, the Union League, chuckling a little, perhaps, because the rain forced Mr. Farley's platoon of man-norcycle cops to put slickers over their fifty khaki shirts, are tolerant and interested. The city is vastly entertained. It is a good show, moving with blare and ballyhoo and brilliancy to its apotheosis on Saturday night, when the great, gorgeous and golden blow-off will occur, when, in full view of 100,000 cheering people, and in full hearing of 50,000,000 radio tuners-in, the President will accept his renomination and the battle will be joined.

The great news of this convention isn't democratic news. There is no democratic news. There has been no news of this convention, for weeks and weeks. Real news, I mean. There has been plenty of carpenter and joiner work, but that has been job stuff, not new structure stuff, the fixing of jutting corners, the oiling of squeaky doors, the repair of sticky windows so the view of the New Deal shall be unobstructed and glorious.

The real news of this convention is that, instead of the moribund and supine opposition which they expected, the Rooseveltians have agitatedly and surprisingly realized that instead of a Farley frolic they are up against a real fight, and that, before starting a proud parade back to Washington on November 3, next, they must first take a lot of trenches, carry a lot of hostile fronts, demolish a large number of heavily-gunned forts, and do a considerable amount of fighting behind the barriers.

This campaign is not going to be the picnic Mr. Farley has so untidily predicted. It is not going to be what, in his prize-fight terminology, he might term a "push-over."

Between now and next November, this country will see a political battle that will make a lot of history and destroy a lot of illusions as well as eradicate a vast number of theories.

The republican man has bitten the dominant democratic dog. That is the news of the convention, that and nothing more or less.

LONDON AND FAMILY LEAVE FOR VACATION

TOPEKA, Kan., June 24.—(UP)—Governor Alfred M. Landon and his family left Topeka by train tonight for a long-awaited vacation trip to Estes Park, Col.

Smiling in anticipation of two weeks in the Colorado mountains, the republican presidential nominee and his party arrived at the station before departure time, bid friends good-bye and posed for photographers.

The governor's party occupied an entire car while a second special coach carried 20 newspapermen and photographers who accompanied Landon.

PASSAGE IN STRAITS
DEMANDED BY RUSSIADead Anglo-Japanese Alliance Is Revived at Dardanelles Meet.

MONTEUX, Switzerland, June 24. (AP)—The Anglo-Japanese alliance which perished at the Washington naval conference was revived temporarily tonight in an attempt to muzzle the naval might of Russia.

The crisis reached at the international Dardanelles conference was so serious that some delegates were pessimistic as to the outcome.

Great Britain was believed behind Tokyo's announced attitude that she was willing to accept any limitation concerning Japanese warships authorized to enter the Black Sea providing similar restrictions were placed on the exit of Russian warships.

Russia demanded free westward passage out of the Black sea through the straits, and added she was unable to see why non-Black sea powers desired unlimited passage to the Black sea.

France was believed likely to side with Russia, because of her mutual assistance pact with the soviet.

It was Turkey's suggestion that eastward warship tonnage should be limited to 14,000 tons for any one power and 28,000 tons for simultaneous passage of all powers. However, the suggestion would not place a limit on Russian westward tonnage through the straits.

The day's developments indicated to diplomats the Black sea, dominated by Russia and Turkey, is likely to prove an inland water rivaling the Mediterranean in strategic importance.

France expressed the opinion that powers not bordering on the Black sea should be given unrestricted passage through the Dardanelles only if acting under the mandate of the League or aiding a victim of aggression under regional pacts.

The gloom which prevailed on the part of some delegates was not lessened at the probability of a change with the advent of Italy into the conference of the Lausanne signatories.

It was believed the entrance of Italy, who has refused to participate until sanctions against her are lifted, would change the apparent impasse reached.

ATLANTA, GA., JUNE 25, 1936.

"WITHOUT HOPE"

In the distributive against President Roosevelt and the policies of the New Deal addressed to the delegates of the Philadelphia convention by the group of democratic dissenters headed by former Governor Al Smith, the delegates were warned that "you must do away with conditions under which 20,000,000 Americans are on the dole, with nothing to hope for under present rulers except a continuance of that condition of semi-slavery."

This statement is so in conflict with the facts concerning unemployment now and when the Roosevelt administration took over the reins of government that it is difficult to believe it comes from so politically astute leaders as those associated with Governor Smith in his last-minute attack on the party's leadership.

In March, 1933, there were between sixteen and seventeen million unemployed, most of whom were on the dole and in bread lines. In the past three years, permanent jobs have been re-created in industry and trade for more than 5,000,000 of these unemployed, and other millions have been furnished with work on government-sponsored projects. The dole has been abolished.

Striking contradiction of the unfounded charge of the Smith-Colby-Reed-Ely-Cohalan group is the report of the Department of Labor that 88,000 workers were restored to jobs in May over April of this year and that there were 650,000 more men and women at work in permanent positions last month than there were in May, 1935.

The continued trend toward increased employment is still going forward despite the usual seasonal drop registered during the summer months.

Pay rolls were up $6,500,000 in May over April and $36,000,000 over May of last year.

Certainly such official figures explode the charge that those who are still without permanent jobs "have nothing to hope for."

The republicans and the democratic malcontents must find better ground for criticism of the record of the Roosevelt administration before they can hope to impede the overwhelming democratic sweep toward success in the fall elections.

FRANCE'S WOES MOUNT

The communist outbreak among the sailors in Marseilles harbor, resulting in the entire stoppage of shipping activities in the port, emphasizes the seriousness of the conditions now existing throughout France as the result of the continuing clashes between the rightists, led by the nationalists, and the leftists, which include all of the radical parties in the country.

The situation in Marseilles is aggravated by the fact that the city is suffering from a series of strikes which closed most of the hotels and restaurants, had a paralyzing effect on business and brought abnormal conditions generally.

The French are a naturally excitable people and prone to more frequent public clashes than other races, and these disturbances do not always indicate as deep-rooted discontent as would be the case in other countries. The present unrest, however, seems to be more serious and the Blum government has yet to evidence an ability to find an effective solution to the internal troubles with which the nation is faced.

So far the policy of the government has been to accede to practically all the demands of the leftists. This policy has resulted in new demands and a steady increase in the protests and violence of the rightists.

The grave nature of the conditions now existing in many French cities is illustrated by the request of a former mayor of Marseilles for "10,000 without fear of violence or death with which to clean up the streets of Marseilles."

Most of the unrest is attributable to the uncertainty of economic conditions, which have been seized upon by the radical elements of the population to resort to violence. It is probable that with a settlement of the economic problems quiet will return, but unless this is accomplished the prospect is for a continuance of the troubles from which the country is now suffering.

Canton Verses Tokyo.

The Canton government which controls the southern provinces of the immense Chinese world has declared war on Japan, apparently in an effort to stir the northern Chinese government to assume a stiffer attitude toward Japan, which has begun an open campaign of penetration and expansion. On the principle of the constantly expanding market, without which the present Japanese economic structure must break down, the penetration of North China has become inevitable, the more since Manchuria represents a disappointment and the industrial trusts reproach the army with having pursued purely strategic aims in that part of the world. Japan is not looking for empty lands to settle. Japan is looking for lands teeming with people who can take its manufactured articles. That is why Tokyo is slowly and systematically undermining British and American influence in China and capturing that huge market. For a time it looked that Japan would attack the Soviet Union. This idea has been abandoned for the moment. No move in the direction of Siberia is likely to be made until Herr Hitler is ready to attack Russia from the other side, which will not be for another year or a year and a half.

Had Great Britain become involved in a war with Italy over Ethiopia, Japan would have pushed her conquest of China with all her power and in a far more drastic manner. Now she will have to go easy. Britain stayed out of war with Italy precisely because she feared a move on Japan's part in the far east. Yet Japan cannot sit still. Her market must expand. This is the sine qua non of her present economic structure. And her expansion takes a southern direction, because Siberia is largely unsettled and virgin land. No market there, in other words.

For some time, the Canton government has been urging the northern government to resist more firmly and not to hand over the one province after the other to the Japanese aggressors. And now, suiting action to words, Canton has taken the bull by the horns and has declared war on Japan, hoping, of course, that the north will follow suit. The whole question is whether the north will follow suit.

They raise cotton out in Texas, just as we do here in Georgia, but the farmers in this particular section specialize in vegetable production, and what cotton is raised is a side crop.

A large section of south Georgia can produce "out-of-season" vegetables when the prices are high, and this part of the country is much nearer the great northern markets than the tip end of Texas.

The introduction of fast freight transportation by both rail and truck lines should give the production of vegetables and fruits in this state a great market impetus. The numerous farmers' markets provide places to dispose of small quantities, provided they are graded and packed properly, and there is now no valid reason why the farmers of Georgia should not produce all the vegetables and fruits required by its citizens and gradually develop an export business that will add greatly to their incomes.

The cities of Georgia are importing vegetables from Texas, Arizona and California that should be produced somewhere in Georgia.

THE "PEACE" OF ADDIS ABABA

The news comes from Addis Ababa that peace has settled down upon the city and that after nightfall the ruined business section is "haunted" by only the dog packs, the jackals and the hyenas.

It is estimated that during the bloody days between the departure of Haile Selassie and the arrival of the Italian army more than 800 were killed in the disorders in Addis Ababa. But this was not to be the total of human losses incident to the fall of the last independently governed city of Africa.

An additional 400 lives have been taken during the following weeks in which the armed forces of Italy were bringing about the "peace" that now exists—including the lining up of the hapless Ethiopians in groups as large as 50, which were then mowed down before the spewing mouths of machine guns.

Most of those slain were guilty of no worse offenses than looting and hiding either arms or loot taken before the Italians arrived.

Perhaps it was necessary that this wholesale slaughter should take place in order to insure the safety of peaceful inhabitants of the city as well as that of the Italian conquerors and the foreign residents in the country—but no more can the world shudder at reports of mass executions amongst yellow-skinned peoples or the alleged wholesale killings in the first years of the communist government of Russia.

Hitler's "blood purge," although it shocked the world, at least was based on the accusation of treason, a crime against government and the safety of the public for which the death penalty is justifiable.

But in this civilized day, it would seem that even if the Ethiopians are the savage barbarians they are alleged to be by the Italians, they could have been some other method of bringing peace to Addis Ababa than through the shooting down of human beings like so many caged rats.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

BY PAUL MALLON.
FORGETFULNESS PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 24.—There seems to be much in what the democratic orators have not said. Nobody missed it much, but Messrs. Farley, Barkley and Robinson neglected to mention such outstanding New Deal reforms as the Tennessee Valley improvement, rural resettlement, the Federal Housing Administration. Also they overlooked Grand Coulee and the other dams, as well as Passamaquoddy and the Florida ship canal.

Few will blame them for forgetting the last two sidetracked accomplishments, but how they came to omit legislation passed at this session of congress, such as the tax bill, the mild chain store bill and the bonus is causing inner comment.

Party directors here explain they wanted to keep the speeches as general as possible. What they really mean is that they have wisely chosen to stress accomplishments with the widest political appeal, while soft-pedaling the more controversial ones.

NOTE The only really serious inside split has been between these top leaders who want to generalize and others who want to particularize. Inside differences in preparation of the platform at the White House have centered mainly on that point of strategy.

LUCK More than one delegate has wondered to those sitting next to him why Mr. Roosevelt selected such an unexceptional orator as Judge Mack to do his nominating. There was also much comment about the choice of such old-fashioned orators as Senators Barkley and Robinson. Only those very close to Mr. Roosevelt know the answer.

The President is superstitious. Mack did the nominating in Chicago and started a successful campaign. Barkley and Robinson also held the same jobs four years ago. In choosing them again, Mr. Roosevelt discarded the advice of some of his best advisers, but he did not risk offending Lady Luck.

And, while everybody believes Mr. Roosevelt's acceptance speech is being delayed until Saturday night just to stretch out the convention for the Philadelphia businessmen who put up the money, he had a personal purpose in that decision also. Doubt it, if you will, but Mr. Roosevelt does not accept such important things as nominations on Fridays.

BAITING A small group of delegates from Idaho have been discussing among themselves a plan to lure Borah from the republicans.

Their idea is to run down to Washington after this convention and find out whether the Idaho republican would be interested in accepting the democratic senatorial nomination of the Idaho republican. This would mean the retirement from the race of democratic Governor Ross, but the enthusiastic delegates profess to have no doubts that this could be effected.

By thus assuring Borah of re-election, they believe they could keep him out of the London camp for the duration of the campaign.

The big shots have heard about the plan but do not share the enthusiasm of the four of five Idaho delegates behind it. They do not believe Borah would bite.

FEELING It is true considerable criticism is being expressed by delegates against the New Deal after they lock the door and close the window. It is causing some excited orators to expect an insurrection on some secondary point like the two-thirds rule.

What they have not noted is that the criticism is against certain features of the New Deal and not against Roosevelt. It indicates there are very few, if any, delegates here who are in favor of everything that the New Deal has done. At the same time there are equally few, if any, who are not in favor of giving Mr. Roosevelt anything and everything he wants out of this convention.

WORRIES Three big senators up front here are not exactly fretting easy about their own personal political situations back home.

Nothing much is being said about it, but Senator Jim Byrnes is having his troubles in South Carolina. Some political insiders there doubt that he will be renominated, and even his friends concede the contest will be close. Almost as hard pressed is Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi. Permanent Chairman Robinson has faced difficulties in Arkansas, but White House politicians now claim to have word that everything is straightened out for his senatorial renomination.

Unless the three men are renominated, their interest in the coming campaign might be purely academic. The loss of any of them would cause mourning in the White House.

NOTES Frank Walker is telling friends who expect to see him in Washington shortly as postmaster general that he "does not know about that." Nevertheless, he will probably take it. . . . Ghostman Michaelson spent all Tuesday afternoon with Keynoteur Barkley cutting 2,000 words out of the speech. . . .

The applause thermometer indicates the hottest democratic hate is not the republicans or Hoover, but the Liberty League. The thermometer averaged 92 degrees for all mentions of the Liberty League, 88 per cent for the Supreme Court and 70 per cent for Hoover. . . .

Further strong inside pressure is being exerted upon Senator Wagner here to run for governor of New York in case Governor Lehman persists in retiring. It will probably work out that way. . . .

A southern congressman says: "I want to get away from here and get back home to mend my fences. After all, there is nothing to do here except stand around and wait for orders from the boss." . . .

Newsboys are selling Father Coughlin's latest magazine, with flaming headlines attacking Roosevelt, outside the convention hall. That is, they are unless they have been slain by now. . . .

State Secretary Hull insists on sitting with the Tennessee delegation so he can parade around the hall waving banners. . . .

Those "Arkansas sharecroppers" who demonstrated against Joe Robinson seemed to bear remarkable facial resemblances to the "Indians" who demonstrated two days earlier for suffrage in the District of Columbia. The maximum wage for demonstrators here is $1 per day, maximum hours, 30 minutes.

The World Is Improving.
Over the world pull there can be no doubt the world is improving. Regardless of the criticisms of the political outsiders and malcontents, it is easy for the democrats to point to the condition in this America in 1936 and offer irrefutable argument as to why the years since then have been so much better.

But the thoughts that arise from such an argument carry memory back over a great span of years and, despite stories of tragedy and suffering, reveal in the columns of your newspaper, unbiased consideration of the mangled "good old days," can do nothing to make you grateful to live in 1936.

PHILADELPHIA

BY HERBERT AGAR.
(Copyright, 1936, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

PHILADELPHIA, June 24. Speeches by outstanding New Dealers have set the course of the presidential campaign and led delegates to the democratic national convention, at their colorful opening sessions, know that the New Deal cards are to be played throughout.

One was that of National Chairman James A. Farley, who said the "continuance of the New Deal is the only way to save the country." He then started the delegates on their first floor demonstration, which was eclipsed when Senator Alben W. Barkley keynoted again, as he did four years ago at Chicago. Mr. Barkley in close touch with the program of the administration, made it clear that, in the choosing of sides, the New Deal standing with liberal and moderate men to produce a platform directly opposite to the general tenor of that brought forth at Cleveland.

Personality Is Key.
At the same time, all developments here centered around the personality of Franklin Delano Roosevelt and put forth a challenge to Governor Alf M. Landon, of Kansas, the republican nominee to test his mettle with that of the man in the White House, Mr. Landon and his ticket and its background of collaboration with the old guard were assailed as the repetition of republican performances of past years.

These democrats have decided to thrust Landon, despite the attempt to graft him with graces into the role that was Hoover's and Harding's and Coolidge's. By going the limit in reaffirming liberal objectives, the New Deal platform makers are confident that the issue this year will be sharp and clear.

In making bold to dwell upon the supreme court's invalidating of New Deal measures, the Kentucky senator probably forecast the main attitude the party will take, at the guidance of the White House, in dealing with the "home and buggy" question.

That attitude, as President Roosevelt himself hinted in his recent Little Rock speech, is that the aims of his administration may well be attained within the present constitution, if it is interpreted in the light of modern circumstances, but that, lacking such interpretation, the way should be left open to amendment of the fundamental charter.

Reply to Landon.
That, in substance, is the New Deal's reply to Governor Landon's overriding of his own platform makers' demand that, if necessary, there should be an amendment providing more power to the states for dealing with the hours of work and child labor wages for women and children. That eleventh-hour stipulation of the republican nominee was an outgrowth of the turmoil into which the republican situation was thrown by a popular high court decision outlawing the New York minimum wage act. It was rank heresy to many members of the convention at Cleveland, but it was one of Landon's concessions to the mood of the country.

Governor Landon was dwelling in terms of extended constitutional power for the states. But democrats, and to the states' rights doctrine in all its original implications, are talking here now in terms of federal power sufficient to cope with the warlike and economic system uncurbed by state lines or constitutional provisions.

Barkley went further into this matter than many expected. First of all, he started out by taking a pass at the supreme court majority.

"We meet in the fullness of national responsibility in all branches of the government save one," he said. "The one branch that Governor Landon and his running mate, Mr. Bull Moose, and that Theodore Roosevelt advocated the recall of judges, he said:

On Supreme Court.
"These judges have decided that, under the constitution, the federal government cannot lift men, women and children out of the degradation of unconscionable hours, and of working conditions, because it invades the rights of the states. They have decided that the states cannot do it because it invades the rights of private property."

"What we need is a new definition of a new interpretation of interstate commerce. Every business that is grown or mined or fabricated in one state and destined for another is an object of interstate commerce."

The court's majority has agreed with all that, but Senator Barkley, the old irreconcilable states' rights to the contrary notwithstanding, is still clinging to the prevailing direction of his party.

"We have sought to treat it (the constitution) as a life-giving charter, rather than an object of reverence on the shelf of a museum," he said.

Mr. Barkley went on to cite how presidents like Jefferson, Jackson, Lincoln and the first Roosevelt did not subscribe to the belief that a man-made tribunal was beyond all criticism.

"Twelve Long Years."
One other endeavor of the keynoteur was to turn against the republicans their war cry of "Three Long Years," sung to the tune of "Three Blind Mice." His version was "Twelve Long Years," referring to the era of Harding and Coolidge and Hoover, when the doctrine of devil in the machine was the prevailing line. He soon had his audience cheering his phrase.

Outstanding in the situation was that the democratic delegates had been swung into a compact mass in support of President Roosevelt and practically everything he wants at this convention.

There may have been slight doubt about that a few days ago, but not the least since Alfred E. Smith and his band of Liberty League friends had summoned this convention, of all things, to cast out Roosevelt and turn against the New Deal in favor of a "genuine democracy."

Smith went up again for re-election, although the formal speakers deemed it not worth while to fan further a conflagration that was already in full blast on its own.

Frightened Birds Fly Far and Wide, But Return to the Old Roosting Place

BY ROBERT QUIGLEN.
No question is settled until it is settled right. And no question is settled right in this free land until it is settled for the welfare of the whole people.

As the boiling of the pot brings the scum to the surface, so every period of turmoil brings to the surface a number of half-cracked economists and sociologists with new schemes to save the country.

In normal times the people would reject these schemes as howls of derision. But minds that are warped by fear or despair do not think clearly, and people who face ruin will accept any scheme that seems to promise deliverance.

But when abnormal conditions cause people to accept a new ism, the return of normal conditions will prompt them to drop it. A sick man may be desperate enough to try quick medicines, but he doesn't keep on taking them after nature cures him.

That is not a matter of opinion, but of history. And no matter what queer isms our people accept in time of desperation, they return at last to the system that made us a nation—the system that fits our way of thinking, that matches our idea of fair play, that typifies and makes possible the rags-to-riches romance that is as popular and common and American as ham and eggs.

It is the system of free and fair competition which permits every individual to go as far as natural ability and luck will take him. Critics of the system say it means every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost, but that isn't true.

Americans believe in free and fair competition, with the winner taking the prize; but they will not tolerate unrestrained monopoly

JOSEPH S. RAINE DIES IN KENTUCKY HOSPITAL

He was made special agent, and appointed assistant secretary. He was elected secretary in 1906, serving in that capacity until the time of his death. He was well known throughout the United States, and attended all conventions of Fire Insurance Agents' State Associations in the southeast. He was affectionately known as "official host" for the National Association of Insurance Agents.

Prominent Socially. Affectionately known as "Joe" to hundreds of friends, Mr. Raine was prominent in the social life of the city, where he had lived for 35 years. He was a member of All Saints church, Capital City Club and Atlanta Athletic Club. He lived at 80 Park lane, Ansley Park.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. W. C. Wardlaw III and Mrs. Meriweather Hill, both of Atlanta, and Mrs. G. A. Taylor, of Rome; two sons, Joseph S. Raine Jr. and John M. Raine, of Atlanta; two nephews, George Raine, of Nashville, and Cleveland Wilcox, of Atlanta, and eight grandchildren. His wife, Edna Miller Raine, whom he married in November, 1900, and a daughter, Mrs. Catherine Raine Watson, died several years ago. H. M. Paterson & Son are in charge of funeral arrangements.

DROUTH RELIEF ORDER GIVEN BY ROOSEVELT

The driest spots in the state, welcomed showers which brought 46 of an inch of precipitation. Other rainfall figures: Gainesville, .60; Griffin, .60; Macon, a trace; Monticello, .30; Newnan, .11; Rome, .24; LaGrange, .10, and Augusta, .04. Those rains ending a series of showers finds cotton still in a very poor condition in the northern half of the state, according to Minding's reports on crops, gathered yesterday from weather correspondents over the state. In the southern half of the state, cotton was described as generally fair to good except in a few western counties. "Plants now have much better color where substantial showers occurred," Minding said, "but about one-fourth of the state, chiefly in the Piedmont section, has little cotton more than 6 to 8 inches high."

The region near Americus was described as "still terribly dry." Weather conditions have been favorable for keeping the boll weevil under control, Minding stated, with some damage reported in Wilcox county. Corn Fair. "Corn is fair to good and growing well over a large section in the south-east. Noticeable improvement in size and color has resulted from recent showers northward beyond the middle of the state with the exception of some small areas."

"However, the crop is decidedly late and poor over one-fourth the state or more." Tobacco was called mostly good, with curing well under way. Sweet potatoes are fair to good in the southeast, but poor and late elsewhere. Peas and peanuts, the report said, have had generally favorable weather except in Sumter county, where it is too dry. Watermelons suffered to some extent from sunburn but benefited by recent showers. Sugar cane, in fair condition, is in need of more rain.

Details indefinite. While no definite details of what form the relief would take could be learned from Tugwell, it is believed that "Washington officials will confer with congressional representatives of South Carolina and Georgia and the heads of established government relief agencies in the two states." Representative Paul Brown, of Elberton, Ga., said yesterday in Washington that he had urged the Works Progress Administration in Washington and Atlanta to provide relief in the form of jobs.

WPA is one of the plans suggested by a congressional delegation which called at the White House Tuesday to place the drouth problem in the hands of President Roosevelt.

Brown said that efforts still were being made to increase the quota of benefits that may be paid farmers under the soil conservation act through a liberalization of acreage that may be taken out of the production of soil-depleting crops. In some places, he said, the quota should be as high as 60 per cent.

WPA IS REQUESTED TO AID FARMERS

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Miss Gay B. Shepperson, WPA administrator for Georgia, was today requested by Representative Paul Brown, of Elberton, to give preference to farmers in the drouth stricken areas of the state in the matter of dispensing jobs under the new Works Progress Administration.

Brown telegraphed Miss Shepperson to "use every influence" to have farmers of the state, made destitute by drouth conditions, obtain work under the new federal relief set-up. He also called upon Tully Cobb, director of the southern division of the agricultural adjustment administration and a former Georgian, to authorize the taking out of production of at least 60 per cent of normal acreage in the drouth-affected area of the southeast.

"Mr. Cobb was most sympathetic with the sad plight of the farmers in my congressional district," said Brown, "and with the active aid of President Roosevelt himself, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and high officials of the soil conservation and resettlement administration, I am hopeful some real federal assistance will be given our harassed farmers."

Representative Brown will leave by motor for his home in Elberton tomorrow night or early Friday morning, he declared.

kuomintang (dominant government political party and the only one officially recognized in China).

1. Mobilize the whole nation to resist Japan.

2. Sever diplomatic relations with Japan.

3. Emancipation of the masses and restoration of free speech and the liberties of the people.

4. Resist with armed force the influx of Japanese troops into North China.

5. Repudiation of "humiliating" Sino-Japanese agreements.

Unless these questions are included in the agenda, it was said, Canton threatens not to attend, and unless all the proposals are approved it will withdraw and call on the nation to recognize Canton as the national seat of government, after which the anti-Japanese program would be carried out.

Terms impossible. Informed observers called these terms impossible of acceptance by Nanking and said Canton designed them to make Nanking uncomfortable and to compel Chiang Kai-shek to offer counter-proposals.

Canton's real terms are believed to be Nanking must postpone ratification of a new constitution; Chiang must relinquish his presidential ambition and permit the southwest to continue its semi-independent status; plus the adjustment of rival claims for the management of the Canton-Hankow railway and other minor Nanking-Canton disputes.

JAPANESE HINT USE OF CRUISERS

TIENSIN, June 24.—(P)—Indignant Japanese hinted tonight a warship squadron would be sent answer to Chinese marine attacks on suspected smugglers.

A spokesman at the Japanese consulate indicated a squadron of destroyers was being sent from Port Arthur to patrol the Gulf of Chihli, North China's vast harbor.

The Japanese hinted, too, they might demand complete withdrawal of Chinese customs patrol vessels from northern waters unless "the situation is ameliorated."

China's troublesome problem of smuggling—for which the Chinese have blamed Japan—struck a crisis Monday when a customs cruiser fired on a Japanese vessel off Tangku. Two Japanese were reported wounded.

Delayed Japanese reports from Tsingtao, Shantung province, said also four Japanese seamen had been hurt when a Chinese cruiser fired on the Japanese Moki Maru Sunday.

Advices from Tsinan—likewise through Japanese channels—stated four Chinese brigands had slain a Japanese merchant, mistreated his wife, and escaped.

The customs incidents drew a warning of "firm, appropriate action" from Captain Hisaharu Kubota, resident Japanese naval officer.

WELL-SHARPENED AX FALLS ON 4 EMPLOYEES

he stated, "I haven't demanded that the employees do anything for me politically. All I expect is an honest day's work and for the employee to render service commensurate with their stipends."

"I have made it clear I don't want them to bite the hand that's feeding them. As long as I'm here, I won't tolerate employees working here in the day and going to someone else's headquarters after office hours to engage in political activity."

"Disloyalty" Interpretation. It is understood that by "disloyalty," Parker meant taking information from William B. Harrison, former comptroller general, who was suspended by Talmadge and is a candidate for reelection in September.

Mrs. Girardeau, who began work in the comptroller's general division yesterday was secretary to Parker when he was adjutant general and congressman from the first district. Miss Thackston worked for the comptroller in Statesboro recently.

Carreker, whom Parker succeeded last week, dismissed several employees during his first few months terms of office as comptroller. Carreker was appointed to that office by the Governor after William B. Harrison was ejected for opposing Talmadge's financial "dictatorship."

ROOSEVELT ADDRESSES KIWANIS CONVENTION

WASHINGTON, June 24.—(P)—President Roosevelt, while delegates to the Kiwanis International convention today that there was "much useful community work which voluntary citizens can take off the shoulders of poor old government."

Greeting delegates and their wives on the White House lawn, he praised "the good work Kiwanis has done in aiding crippled children throughout the country," and commended the clubs for their efforts to carry out a "good neighbor" policy in both local and international fields.

During the day the convention pledged itself to "every practical effort" to establish friendly relations between nations, and urged a "better understanding of the common problems" of Canada and the United States.

In a strongly-worded resolution the delegates advocated tightening of immigration laws to authorize deportation of alien criminals. They suggested a wider discretionary power for immigration officials in deportation cases involving hardships for American-born wives and children.

MOTHER, 2 CHILDREN DROWN IN MICHIGAN

CHARLEVOIX, Mich., June 24.—(P)—Three members of a family of four drowned in an arm of Lake Charlevoix today, near Ironton. Mrs. Nancy Curry Parker, 41, of Arlington, Va., lost her life in a futile attempt to save her daughters, Joan Isabel, 10, and Patricia Ann, 8.

The younger child stepped into the channel while wading. Joan Isabel went to her rescue, followed by the mother. None could swim.

Mrs. Howard Pillsbury, of Detroit, at whose cottage the Parkers were guests, nearly lost her life in a rescue attempt. A good swimmer, she was dragged beneath the water by Mrs. Parker and was saved by her daughter, Nancy, 8, who pushed a rowboat from shore.

Parker and Pillsbury were in Charlevoix when the tragedy occurred.

WANDERING APE HUNTED.

Residents near Holiday Creek, Iowa are searching for a mysterious chimpanzee, which appeared in the vicinity late last fall. The animal survived the severe Iowa winter and has been seen lately searching for food. The chimpanzee is believed to have escaped from a circus cage.

WELTNER MOVEMENT ATTACKED BY LARSEN

Candidate for Governor Centers Fire on Macon Convention Group.

TRENTON, Ga., June 24.—Defending the New Deal and paying high tribute to its leaders, Judge W. W. Larsen spoke here this morning in the interest of his candidacy for governor.

"Senator Barkley's speech was a masterpiece, a veritable textbook of democracy," Larsen said. "It was my privilege to serve with the senator in congress for many years and his masterful address last night was what might be expected of one of the great leaders of our party."

Judge Larsen pledged himself to helping find some means for insurance of crops against "drouth and other menaces which are beyond human control."

"WELTNER WAILING WALL" IS ASSAILED BY LARSEN

BLUE RIDGE, Ga., June 24.—A denunciation of the "one-man Weltner convention" was made here today by former Congressman Wash Larsen, candidate for governor, in a speech delivered here.

Larsen referred to the convention as the "Weltner wailing wall" for "self-centered Atlanta politicians" seeking a candidate who detected "autocracy."

and abhors the use of arbitrary powers." Larsen said: "The Macon candidate should be well aware that law requires candidates to report campaign expenditures. But, I take this opportunity of advising this gubernatorial candidate that in so much as he has accepted the nomination it is assumed he will resign his judgeship as he could not accept more than $400 a month in taxpayers' money while he is rendering no services. While the candidate is so worried about the campaign funds of the announced candidates I feel sure the taxpayers of Georgia will be more than concerned about his monthly salary while taking leave from his office."

ROOSEVELT PRAISED IN LARSEN SPEECH

BLAIRSVILLE, Ga., June 24.—Former Congressman Wash Larsen, candidate for governor, after addressing the citizens of Fannin county this morning, made an address here this afternoon in the interest of his campaign.

Larsen opened his speech with a tribute to Franklin D. Roosevelt and the national administration.

He said: "Roosevelt is a great dynamic force in the world today. He will be elected the next president. I promise each and every one of you that after my inauguration, the state of Georgia will fully cooperate with the national administration."

COOK RESIGNS POST

Highway Bureau Employee May Seek Office.

Lawrence Cook, an employee of the State Highway Department for 12 years, resigned yesterday. Though no official reason was given, friends of Cook said he intended entering the race for secretary of state in the democratic primary against John B. Wilson, who now holds that post.

Cook is a son of the late Phil Cook, who served for many years as secretary of state, and is a brother of Charles Cook, former cashier of the motor vehicle department.

MANSLAUGHTER CASE BRINGS 8-YEAR TERM

Clarence Hudson, negro, charged with the murder of his niece, 18-year-old Lillie Mae Passmore, yesterday was sentenced to serve from eight to ten years when a jury convicted him of voluntary manslaughter.

James Verden, another negro, was sentenced to from two to five years when he pleaded guilty of robbing U. H. Vaughan, street car motorman. George Washingtons had their in-laws in criminal court. When court bailiffs called George Washington, attaches came into court with two George Washingtons. They were both negroes. Judge Jesse M. Wood, presiding, was somewhat flabbergasted, but regained his composure immediately, and asked for the defendant.

George Washington, No. 1, was produced and sentenced to 13 months for possessing liquor, carrying a pistol and pointing it at another.

George Washington, No. 2, was remanded to jail to await trial on an indictment charging assault with intent to murder.

U. S. Flag Now Protects Two Fair Atlantans

Meet two attractive fellow citizens. Yesterday they cast off allegiance to the lands of their birth and were accepted as full-fledged citizens of the United States. Left, is Mrs. Jesse L. Howell, wife of an Atlanta doctor, and right is Mrs. Benno Stein, wife of a well-known dog fancier of north Fulton county. Mrs. Howell, from Newfoundland, was a British subject, and Mrs. Stein, a native of Germany, had married in the Netherlands and consequently was a citizen of that country. Staff photo by H. J. Postmaster Livingston Relaxes As Bonus Task Nears Conclusion

Postmaster Lon F. Livingston relaxed in his office in the old post-office building yesterday for the first time in several weeks as he reported:

"The bonus is approximately 68 per cent paid. It seems as though the original estimate in Washington that only about 75 per cent of the veterans would cash their bonus bonds is correct."

"They are cashing them mighty slowly now and, at the rate they are straggling in, I believe that 75 per cent will be just about correct."

"We certainly had good luck. We have had no checks returned. The identification system worked like a clock and what few veterans in this section found their bonds among those on which errors had been made, originated in other cities. I believe none will lose any money. The government's errors, few as they were, seemed to have been in underpayment."

"Next week, the cashing business will be so slow throughout the state

12 GIVEN CITIZENSHIP BY JUDGE UNDERWOOD

Five Change Allegiance From Great Britain to United States.

Twelve new citizens were accepted yesterday by the United States, five of them coming from Great Britain and one each from The Netherlands, Poland, Sweden, Greece, Russia, Czechoslovakia and Germany.

Oaths were administered by Jon Dean Steward, clerk of the United States district court, and Federal Judge E. Marvin Underwood, after questioning each of the applicants as to his education, lectured them in a group on the serious responsibilities of citizenship in today's disturbed world.

"With unrest reported to us from all sections of the world," said Judge Underwood, "we citizens of the United States should congratulate ourselves on our security and employ all our efforts toward maintaining this security."

Seven women and five men were among the new citizens, who completed their naturalization requirements and Tuesday under the supervision of Bart G. Nash, deputy clerk of the United States court.

FACULTY MINDS DEFENDED.

College professors are not absent-minded—not even the absent-minded ones, says Professor Burgess Johnson, of Union College, Rochester, N. Y. When a professor licks a stamp and lets it stay on his tongue, Johnson explains, his mind is where it belongs—in the classroom—although he may be on the way to the dentist.

PLANS FOR NEW PARTY ARE NOT COMPLETED

Lemke Leaves Washington for Conference With Rail Labor Heads at Cleveland.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—(AP)—Organization of the new union party's presidential campaign was described by its manager as "still up in the air" today as Representative William Lemke took to the field as its candidate for president.

Representative Usher Burdick, of North Dakota, named yesterday by Lemke as his campaign manager, asserted he was confident that such groups as the Townsend and Share-the-Wealth organizations eventually would get behind the union party fight. Burdick will leave Washington Friday for Chicago, where party headquarters will be established.

Lemke left by automobile early today for Chicago by way of Cleveland, where he was reported to have a conference scheduled with railway labor spokesmen.

The scene for the opening campaign speech of the union party candidate was undiscovered. Burdick is scheduled for a speech July 1, before the national meeting of the Farmers' Holiday Association at St. Paul, but he said he did not know if Lemke would speak there.

Lemke has a long-standing engagement to speak at Burlington, Iowa, June 28, and yesterday promised Dr. F. E. Townsend, of the old-age pension movement, to address his national convention at Cleveland in mid-July. He also accepted an invitation of Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith to speak at a share-the-wealth rally in New Orleans sometime within the next six weeks.

AMERICAN CAN COMPANY

PIKE'S PEAK... America's highest mountain highway. A long 11-mile climb... yet it can give your engine less of a "beating" than starting. When you start your engine with slow-flowing oils, parts can run "dry" of lubrication. No wonder engines "age" so quickly!

A SINGLE START can cause more engine wear than CLIMBING PIKE'S PEAK

3/4 of your engine wear can occur in Starting... but now a New Oil CHECKS THIS WEAR

ENGINEERS now point out that the starting period can cause approximately 75% of engine wear. It takes about 15 minutes to "warm up" your engine. While it's "cold," you need a fast-flowing oil...

But after your engine is warmed up, you need a different quality in your oil. You need a TOUGH oil.

It is easy to make either a fast-flowing oil or a tough oil. The problem has been to get BOTH qualities in one lubricant.

Today, at a cost of $3,000,000, Shell engineers have produced such an oil. The new Golden Shell is FAST-FLOWING yet TOUGH.

Oil technicians say the process behind it is the biggest advance in 25 years of oil refining.

And so it is possible for the recommended grade of the new Golden Shell Motor Oil to:

KEEP your engine "young" a year longer. SAVE you up to 50% on your yearly engine repair bills. (Many repairs can cost from $10 to $100.)

SAVE you a gallon of gasoline in every tankful. (The "drag" of an oil that is too heavy can waste over 5% of your power.)

Start protecting your engine with Golden Shell. Now sold at over 30,000 neighborly Shell stations.

Recovery Measures Under Roosevelt Recounted by New Deal Spokesman

Future Democratic Chairman Declares "Guerrilla Warfare of Republican Army" Responsible for Departure From 1932 Pledges.

PHILADELPHIA, June 24.—(AP) The text of the address to the Democratic national convention by Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, follows:

National campaigns heretofore usually have involved sharply defined issues on which political discussions have centered. The principal concern of the recent republican convention at Cleveland was to reconcile its candidate for the presidency with the declarations embraced in its platform. It was not the first time in our history that a nominee, in advance of accepting the nomination, has placed his interpretation on the language employed, but it is the first instance in which a candidate, by keeping silent on national public questions and after maneuvering himself into a position assuring his selection, has indicated a disposition to bolt on five or more subjects on which his party had spoken. It is also the first case in which the platform committee and convention have anticipated the purpose of a prospective nominee to break away from the party and to their movement by declaring that it would constitute a breach of public faith and of private honor should he fail or refuse to conform to the policies laid down for his guidance.

DEMOCRATIC POLICIES

NOW DEAR TO G. O. P. Republican leaders lately have shown, tender, if too long delayed, appreciation of the platform on which the democrats won the election of 1932.

Their speakers enter this campaign declaring that we have betrayed the country by failing to carry out the promises which at first they regarded as repugnant, but which are now dear to the hearts of our opponents.

The Roosevelt administration has faithfully complied with the spirit of the Chicago platform promises. If there has been partial departure from the letter of the platform in that platform relating to economy and balancing the budget, that failure is attributable to the constantly changing conditions and necessities, and to the guerrilla warfare of the republican army.

Because of the policies of three republican administrations extending over a period of 12 years, a condition existed March 4, 1933, which cannot be described as a "crisis." Breakdown was threatened in the government of many states as well as in that of the nation. Millions of laborers were unemployed; the spectre of poverty cast its appalling shadow over the land. Credit sources were dried up, financial institutions were closed down, agriculture was profligate; the savings of cities were being swept away; business was at a standstill; the people were almost everywhere almost desperate, and hoarding was general.

REASONS FOR CONDITIONS AT NEW DEAL'S ENTRY

The conditions had resulted in large part from governmental policies, economic isolation, riotous speculation, promotion of monopolies and the contraction of credit to the private profits of market manipulators.

There is no more pathetic spectacle than that of an honest man, accustomed to earning a livelihood for himself and his dependents, forced to face starvation or to accept private charity. If his self-respect is to be maintained, he should be given opportunity to help himself. That is exactly what has been done through the works progress program. The great economic crisis has been and is being advantageously used. The issue is whether public employment shall be abandoned for the dollar. No one dares advocate that those who cannot work shall be permitted to starve.

RELIEF EXPENDITURE BY STATE OR U. S.

The opponents of the present administration advocate the abdication by the national government of control over the administration of federal relief funds. They assert that such funds should be expended solely by the state governments. Their contention is that this will eliminate politics and prevent waste and corruption. Experience has not shown that to be true.

PROMPT AND EFFECTIVE ACTION BY DEMOCRATS

The democratic leadership recognized that drastic changes were necessary to bring back courage and confidence and to restore financial stability. Feeble and ordinary processes had been tried and had failed. New and decisive methods and measures were demanded and required. They were necessarily formulated with haste. It is not surprising that difficulties were encountered or that mistakes were made. When we consider the slow working out and execution of plans for recovery would have been fatal. No one is wise enough, even with post-mortem knowledge, to say what would have happened if extraordinary legislation had not been speedily enacted and put into effect.

EFFECT OF COLLAPSE OF MARKETS OF 1929

With the depreciation of values and the unparalleled fall in prices following the collapse of markets in 1929, small businesses were merged into gigantic combinations with monopolistic tendencies, or were forced into bankruptcy. As trade and purchasing power diminished, unemployment increased, savings were exhausted and millions of formerly self-supporting citizens were compelled to accept charity.

RECOVERY OF COLLAPSE OF MARKETS OF 1929

When the Roosevelt administration began, local agencies, the states, cities and counties, had well-nigh exhausted their resources, and charitable organizations were unable to meet the constantly growing demands upon them.

RECOVERY OF COLLAPSE OF MARKETS OF 1929

Hundreds of thousands of young men, many of them college or high school graduates, were entering life without prospect. The professions were overcrowded, and the immediate future held little promise for the youth of America.

RECOVERY OF COLLAPSE OF MARKETS OF 1929

There was devised the Federal Emergency Relief Administration, the Civil Conservation Corps organization and the Civil Works Administration. When the conservation corps was first established it was ridiculed as a useless and costly experiment. In spite of the contempt of those who had stood motionless and dumb while the catastrophe was approaching, this organization has demonstrated its effectiveness for keeping deserving young men from becoming hoboes, and for giving them useful service in the construction of highways, the improvement of public parks, buildings and grounds, the reforestation of denuded areas and in other helpful spheres of labor.

Now the value of the Emergency Conservation Corps is generally, almost unanimously recognized. Former President Hoover vainly boasts that he was its originator.

THE CIVIL WORKS ADMINISTRATION

The Civil Works Administration required comprehensive planning. It was difficult to find useful employment in the neighborhoods where the unemployed were located. The consensus of opinion is that more than 75 per cent of the funds expended through that agency was of substantial and permanent advantage to the communities in which the work was carried on.

JOINED WITH SAVINGS

When the Civil Works Administration had served its purpose it was found that the ranks of the unemployed were constantly being augmented. The beginning of the depression had been able to live upon their savings, but who as time progressed were compelled to spend their savings.

While many industries had been restored following recovery measures to an approximately normal state, private agencies continued to pursue their methods and to substitute machinery for hand labor with the result that a comprehensive program of public works became necessary and was authorized under the act of 1933, contemplating a nationwide system of public works, some of them consisting of permanent structures. In order to take from the dole three million, five hundred thousand laborers, the Works Progress Administration was organized and plans were made for public works in thousands of communities in which the unemployed resided. Manifestly, the number on the federal emergency relief rolls could not be concentrated in the communities where public building and similar works could be located, so that it became necessary to provide for the unemployed in the majority of them in or near the communities where they lived. To accomplish this, undertakings of a less permanent nature were authorized by the Public Works Administration program became indispensable. The opposition have described expenditures as wasteful and foolish.

NO PLACE FOR CHARITY ON WPA ROLLS

The theory of the Works Progress Administration is that it is better to give the unemployed a chance to labor the opportunity to do so than to make them dependent on charity or on government dole.

There is no more pathetic spectacle than that of an honest man, accustomed to earning a livelihood for himself and his dependents, forced to face starvation or to accept private charity. If his self-respect is to be maintained, he should be given opportunity to help himself. That is exactly what has been done through the works progress program. The great economic crisis has been and is being advantageously used. The issue is whether public employment shall be abandoned for the dollar. No one dares advocate that those who cannot work shall be permitted to starve.

Certainly where the states and their subdivisions are able to do so they should be expected to contribute a fair share to the very laudable and so far off practicable plan that has been offered for solving the one great problem incident to the depression, namely unemployment.

RELIEF EXPENDITURE BY STATE OR U. S.

The opponents of the present administration advocate the abdication by the national government of control over the administration of federal relief funds. They assert that such funds should be expended solely by the state governments. Their contention is that this will eliminate politics and prevent waste and corruption. Experience has not shown that to be true.

ishing point, but the government would have been compelled to face a demand for monetary inflation that would have been irresistible. Once the printing presses are started turning out money, you can never hope to stop expenditures or to stabilize values until the mania has run its course. That has been the experience of every nation known to history.

REPUBLICAN PLANK ON MONEY QUESTION

The republican platform adopted at Cleveland declares for sound money in the language of the democratic platform of 1932. The fiercest issue in the committee platform at Cleveland was over return to the gold standard. The committee repudiated the platform of the convention, with controversy, supported the committee.

At the beginning of his speech nominating Mr. Landon, Mr. Hamilton, the boss of the Cleveland convention, announced that the candidate had views of his own on the monetary question. In his telegram the candidate declared that he favored return to the gold standard—currency convertible into gold.

It is true that he hedged the issue by declaring that the proposed change should be made "when it can be accomplished without penalizing our democratic economy and without injury to producers of agricultural products."

For that declaration, made immediately before his nomination, the republican candidate for president has been proclaimed as bold and defiant. Almost everyone realizes that there can be no return to the gold standard under present conditions without "penalizing our democratic economy and without injury to producers of agricultural products."

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE

The Cleveland convention did an unusual thing. It implicitly questioned the good faith of its prospective nominee and his willingness to stand upon the platform by the last clause of that document which is as follows: "The acceptance of the nomination tendered by this convention carried with it as a matter of private honor and public faith an understanding by every candidate to be true to the principles and program herein set forth."

What language is considered in connection with the well known fact that in five important particulars the platform committee rejected the nomination of Governor Landon, it is undeniable that the committee was preparing for a candidate whom it knew to be out of sympathy with the platform.

There are five particulars in which the candidate was turned down by the platform committee, the press reports from the pen of Mr. William Allen White, who is the head of the Landon "brain trust," may be cited.

ance for the present. To balance the budget promptly would be to terminate at once all relief. Is this desirable? Do the American people wish to deny all assistance from the federal government to workers who are out of employment and who cannot secure engagements from private industry?

Miss Dorothy Shannon, of Ellwood City, Pa., a visitor to the democratic national committee at Philadelphia, sees to it that the emblem of her favorite state is in a prominent position at convention hall.

Our platform is to be read in the record of the best national law enforcement ever recorded in the history of our nation.

It is, of course, impracticable to make reference in this address to the features of the republican platform which invite consideration.

As an illustration, however, of the attempt to attract support by the announcement of principles which are generally accepted, and concerning which there can be no partisan division, your attention is directed to the "bill of rights" which pledges preservation, protection and defense against all intimidation and threats, freedom of religion, speech, press and radio.

There has been no impairment or threat to impair any of them by the Roosevelt administration although the misrepresentation has been made that in some mysterious way they have been disregarded and held in contempt.

The principal danger to the liberties of the individual and the masses exists in the power of monopolies and trusts which under the last three republican administrations thrived and prospered with respect to both production and distribution. Nothing of importance was done during the Roosevelt administration to check the tendency toward monopoly.

On the contrary, unfair business practices for the suppression of competition were indulged by large combinations without the slightest interference or restraint. It is at once amusing and shocking to witness this pretended concern for the rights of the delegates to the convention while they paraded and danced to the thrilling strains and inspiring music of the republican platform.

TALMADGE PREDICTS ROOSEVELT DEFEAT

Governor, Here, Bases Belief on Radio Broadcast From Convention.

Governor Talmadge, after listening to the keynote address of Senator Alben Barkley before the democratic national convention, predicted yesterday the defeat of President Roosevelt in the November election.

Commenting on the address, the Governor said:

"It sounds the direct note for centralization of power at Washington contrary to democratic doctrine of sovereignty of states and the management by the states of their own internal affairs."

"If this keynote speech is a forerunner of the platform on this point, Roosevelt is overwhelmingly defeated."

The Governor was asked the direct question whether he thought Mr. Roosevelt can be re-elected regardless of the platform.

"I do not," the Governor said. Talmadge, long a critic of the New Deal, and a champion of state rights, predicted a bolt of several southern states from the "solid south" on the state rights issue.

He declined to say what states he thought would swing into the republican column.

The Governor asked that newspapers inform the people he is not at the democratic convention in Philadelphia. He said he had received numerous telegrams and letters about the convention from people who were under the impression he was there.

"Mr. Carlton Mobley, my secretary, is in Philadelphia as an observer, but not as my representative," the Governor said. "I have no representative in Philadelphia."

CANDIDATES QUALIFY FOR STATE PRIMARY

Only 19 Have Paid Fees for Georgia Offices to Secretary.

Four candidates for judgeships or solicitor generalships in the democratic primary of September 9 qualified yesterday by paying their entry fees to Mrs. Eleanor Orr Roan, secretary of the state democratic executive committee.

Only 19 candidates for offices have qualified. Many others have announced their candidacy for various offices but thus far have failed to pay entry fees to Mrs. Roan.

Those sending in their entry fees yesterday were:

Judge W. M. Harper, of Americus, seeking another term as judge of the southwestern circuit superior court.

H. G. Vandiviere, of Canton, to succeed himself as solicitor general of the Blue Ridge circuit.

Judge C. J. Perryman, to succeed himself as judge of Toombs circuit.

Warrenton Candidate, J. Cecil Davis, of Warrenton, seeking another term as solicitor general of the Toombs circuit.

Offices for which no candidate has qualified are lieutenant governor, United States senator, secretary of state, comptroller general, commissioner of commerce and labor and two places on the prison commission.

Statehouse offices for which candidates have qualified are:

Governor: E. D. Rivers, of Lakeland.

Attorney general: M. J. Yeomans, of Decatur, incumbent; Reuben Garfield, of Decatur, and F. E. Strickland, of Donaldsonville.

State treasurer: J. B. Daniel, of LaGrange, incumbent.

Commissioner of agriculture: Columbus Roberts, of Columbus, incumbent.

State superintendent: M. D. Collins, of Fairburn, incumbent.

Public Service Commission: Ben T. Huie, of Atlanta, and J. E. Anderson, of Statesboro, incumbents, and J. L. Haralson, of Atlanta, seeking the place held by Thomas K. Davis.

Judge of the court of appeals: Judge Nash R. Broyles, of Atlanta, incumbent.

Judge of the court of appeals: Jules Wimberly Felton, of Montezuma, seeking the place held by Judge W. Frank Jenkins.

Associate justice of the supreme court: Justice Samuel C. Atkinson, of Atlanta, incumbent.

Judge W. Frank Jenkins, of the state court of appeals, to succeed Justice Price Gilbert as justice of the state supreme court. Justice Gilbert has announced he will retire at the end of his term.

Entries will be accepted until noon on July 4, the deadline set by the committee, according to Mrs. Roan.

Employees of the state department of education voluntarily subscribed $150 to pay the entry fee of Dr. M. D. Collins, state superintendent, as a candidate for re-election, it was announced.

Fulton county democratic executive committee yesterday demanded at least $2,500 of the state democratic committee with which to hold the state primary in this county on September 9.

The Fulton group is called into special session at noon Thursday, July 2, to receive the reply to take whatever action it deems proper in the event the state committee fails to comply.

In a "modified" resolution, the Fulton committee yesterday set out substantially the same claims as were contained in a resolution presented at the meeting of the Fulton group Tuesday by Judge A. J. Hartley, committee member. Hartley's harsh language, however, was eliminated from the revised resolution, but the demands that the state committee provide necessary funds to insure a primary was renewed.

When Hartley presented his resolution Tuesday, a group obtained the floor and succeeded in having the measure referred to a special committee to take the sting out of it.

Hartley said yesterday that if the state committee fails to live up to assurances made by Hugh Howell, state committee chairman, that other action probably will be taken at the special meeting. Howell has been quoted as having assured Fulton committeemen that the state committee would supplement funds which the county group will collect from legislative members. Howell could not be reached yesterday for a statement.

MARGARINE BACKERS WIN FRESH SUPPORT

Further evidence of the widespread interest in the campaign of the South-wide Association of Consumers to secure removal of unfair restrictions against margarine, now largely made from cottonseed and other southern vegetable oils, is attested in the endorsement of this movement by additional organizations in several of the cotton-growing states, including Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina and Tennessee, according to Mrs. R. L. Turman, president of the association, with headquarters here.

"The margarine problem is certainly challenging the consumers of the southland" said Mrs. Turman. "People are finding out that this 50-year-old legislation is out of step as applied to an up-to-the-minute product which is pure, wholesome, nutritious and low in cost, and that it should be freed of the unjust taxation and heavy licensing system which has for so long prevented its being available to the consumers of this country. Consumers are beginning to realize that the real object, all these years, has been to keep margarine burdened with heavy taxes in order to drive it off the market—to kill the industry. They know now that the butter lobby has been responsible for the vicious propaganda spread throughout this country and for continuance of the unconstitutional legislation against margarine."

MRS. JOHN E. CLOWER FUNERAL RITES HELD

Final rites for Mrs. John Edmund Clower, pioneer Atlanta resident, who died Monday, were held at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at St. Luke's Episcopal church.

Dr. John Moore Walker officiated and interment was in Oakland cemetery, under the direction of H. M. Patterson & Son.

Mrs. Clower served for many years as corresponding secretary of the Pioneer Society, and was chairman of prison work for the Episcopal diocese of Atlanta.

Supreme Court Aspirant

JUDGE W. FRANK JENKINS.

CRASH VICTIMS' RITES WILL BE HELD TODAY

Final rites for Howard W. Davis, 28, of Palmetto, who was killed Tuesday when the automobile in which he was riding crashed into a train at the Sawtelle street crossing, will be held at 11 o'clock this morning at the Fayetteville (Ga.) Baptist church.

The Rev. Jesse Dodd will officiate, and burial will be in the churchyard, under the direction of Henry M. Blanchard.

The body of Norman Buren Hare, 23, who was also killed in the same crash, was taken at about 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon to his home at Andalusia, Ala., for funeral services and burial.

JUDGE FRANK JENKINS SEEKS JUSTICE PLACE

Candidate for Supreme Court
Vacancy Pays Primary
Entry Fee.

Judge W. Frank Jenkins, of Eatonton, for nearly 20 years a judge of the state court of appeals and for 18 years presiding judge of that court, yesterday qualified as a candidate for the state supreme court.

Judge Jenkins announced his candidacy recently after Justice Price Gilbert declared his intention of retiring. Judge Jenkins claims the endorsement of the lawyers of 101 counties in Georgia and has gained a wide following throughout the state.

He began his legal career at an early age and was elected mayor of Eatonton when 23 years old. He practiced law with his father in Eatonton after the latter retired from the Ocmulgee circuit and continued this affiliation until his father's death. He was a representative of Putnam county in the state legislature in 1905-6 and was a delegate at large to the democratic national convention at St. Louis in 1916.

Judge Jenkins was elected to the court of appeals in 1917 and was made presiding judge in 1919. He is a former trustee of Mercer University and is at present chairman of the Putnam county board of education and president of the board of trustees of Eatonton High school.

He maintains his residence in Atlanta at 913 Briarcliff road and is a member of the Ten Club here.

FISH COMMITTEE SUICIDE

Apparently the ordinary trout simply can't stand the sight of the albino or light colored trout. When four of the latter were placed in a hatchery tank of the Montana state fishery, the ordinary trout began to attack them.

The top of the tank until 17 out of 35 were dead. The trout albinos looked on undisturbed.

PAY RESOLUTION 'PHANTOM'—COUCH

Councilman Says Salary
Restoral Vote Was Never
Put in Records.

Alderman I. Glover Hailey, presiding at the June 15 meeting of city council, erred when he sustained a point of order raised by Mayor Pro Tem, Ellis B. Barrett, and refused to allow the finance committee to present a report distributing $32,000 in new money to insure operation of city department for the remainder of the year, Councilman J. Allen Couch said yesterday.

Barrett pointed out that council had previously passed a resolution providing that any new monies received by the city should be diverted toward reinstatement of the 10 per cent cut in force against municipal employees making $100 or more a month.

He contended that as the finance committee report conflicted with the old resolution it was out of order, and Hailey sustained him.

Couch asserted yesterday that a diligent search of city records failed to produce the resolution upon which Hailey based his ruling, and said he will move at council's session July 6 to reconsider the entire matter.

"The council just thought it passed such a resolution," Couch contended. "It was only a phantom resolution. Council never took any action, although I am convinced it intended to do so."

MRS. EMMA F. ROYER
PASSES AT RESIDENCE

Mrs. Emma F. Royer, mother of Miss Elizabeth Royer, librarian of the theology department at Emory University, died yesterday afternoon at the residence, 798 Frederica street, northeast.

Mrs. Royer, who was 78, was a resident of this city for six years. Her husband, William Royer, who also survives, is a former postmaster of Seaward, Neb.

She was a native of Indiana, and a member of the Methodist church. Harry G. Poole will announce funeral arrangements.

'YOUR FIGURE, MADAME!'

By IDA JEAN KAIN.

BRAINWORK IS NO EXERCISE.
It takes very little food for thought. Brainwork, the cheapest kind of caloric labor, expends fewer calories than the most strenuous physical activity.

According to the scientific experiments of Dr. and Mrs. F. G. Benedict, the average man expends only 4 percent more calories than at rest. This amount is insignificant in comparison with the requirements for physical activity. A group of students were given mental multiplications, a typical problem being to multiply 73 by 47. The problems were given orally and with great rapidity, but it was found that calculation "in the head" took only a negligible 3 to 4 percent more calories than doing nothing.

You might suppose it takes a lot of energy to sit and think for two solid hours, but, at the most, you use a little over 200 calories. Typing for two hours on copy that requires no thought or concentration uses more calories than mental gymnastics.

Sedentary work of any nature takes a minimum of calories, and even so, one of the most of the day you will store calories, unless you plan for physical exercises. Compared with sitting quietly, slow walking takes three times as many calories. Walking at a moderate rate, three miles per hour, uses six times the number of calories; fast walking, four miles per hour, requires eight times as many. Even so, one would have to step along at the brisk rate of four miles per hour to burn up the calories in one sandwich. No wonder the office girl takes on weight.

Stair-climbing steps up the calorie rate, for it takes 12 to 15 times as many walking the same level distance. Descending the stairs is easier, using only half as many calories as climbing.

Another thing, fast movement is use of calories, but slow movements, heavy people more deliberately and burn few calories, whereas thin people get around faster. However, nervous tension may speed up the energy output of the brainworker, but this is an emotional not a mental, activity.

With the busy program of the office worker, there must be a definite plan for exercise or it will be neglected. For the sake of your health and your figure, remember that you need the types of activity which use the large trunk muscles of the body. Join a gym class, swim, golf or do your daily dozen, but see to it that you get enough physical exercise to offset the low cost of mental gymnastics.

Culbertson on Contract

By ELY CULBERTSON, World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

BLUFF REDOUBLE.

Just as the honest redouble is a powerful weapon in the hands of a closely co-operating partnership, so the bluff redouble, designed to dissuade the opponents from bidding game, may be equally effective. Like all psychological bids, its success depends on two distinct factors: the caliber of one or both opponents, and an adverse lay of cards that will make it difficult to "pull the lie."

Consider the effect on the opponents that a redouble such as the one shown in today's hand would be bound to make. South, dealer. Both sides vulnerable.

SOUTH

♦ K 10
♣ A 8 5

The bidding:
South West North East
1 heart Double Redouble 1 spade
Pass 2 spades Pass Pass

The crucial and difficult decision on this hand had to be made by West after his partner's one spade response and South's pass. Without North's redouble he might have decided that game depended on finding the diamond king and club ace (assuming they were not held by East) in the South hand. In that event East would need virtually nothing but the K of J of spades to give him a play for a four spade contract. The diamond suit probably would take care of club losers in East's hand.

Thus, had North passed instead of redoubling, West probably would have bid three spades instead of two. And with such a strong raise, East certainly would have gone to four, holding, as he did, better than a forced response.

After the redouble, however, West would have been optimistic to depend on the two vital cards mentioned (the club ace and the diamond king) lying in the South hand, in finessable position. His two spade bids was as much of an urge as he dared give under the circumstances. But it was not enough for East with his bad distribution and sketchy honor holding and despite the fact that he had reason to be suspicious of a redouble.

Question: My partner and I try to use asking bids, but we do not always agree on the proper suit in which to ask. Kindly give the correct bidding on these hands, using the asking bid system. Both sides vulnerable. The opponents never make a bid.

Answer: Correct bidding is as follows:
NORTH
1 diamond
3 no trump
4 hearts
7 diamonds

SOUTH
3 diamonds
4 clubs
5 no trump
Pass

When South's asking bid of four clubs locates second round club control and the heart ace (by North's four heart response he virtually can be trusted to know the king of diamonds), the king of diamonds would not have bid three no trump with a singleton club, therefore "second round control" must be the king. The one danger is that North may lack either the king or queen of diamonds. The five no trump bid is used to force North to bid seven if he holds both these vital cards.

Miss Beverley Rogers Becomes Bride of Robert Lorton, of Tulsa

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT EUGENE LORTON, OF TULSA, OKLA. Staff photo.

Social significance and unusual brilliance attended the nuptial ceremony at which Miss Beverley Rogers, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold O. Rogers, became the bride of Robert Eugene Lorton, of Tulsa, Okla., at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at All Saints Episcopal church. Fashionable Atlanta society, augmented by a throng of important visitors, assembled en masse to witness the marriage service which was read by the Rev. Dr. W. W. Memminger, rector of the church.

The interior of the church presented a scene of floral beauty as arranged for the nuptials. Groups of tall palms flanked either side of the handsome marble altar, across the top of which ranged a series of single lighted candles. Concealing the base of the cross on the altar was a mound of fragrant Easter lilies, and the brass altar vases were also filled with stately lilies.

The entrance to the sanctuary was guarded by groups of tall palms and clusters of Easter lilies caught to the altar rail. Tropical foliage was massed against the stained glass windows in the sanctuary, and silhouetted against the foliage were seven-branched candelabra holding burning tapers, the candelabra arising from mounds of Easter lilies.

The rear of the choir loft was banded with huge Woodwardia ferns interlarded with a series of seven-branched candelabra. Palms flanked the steps leading to the choir stall, forming a background for the brass candelabra arising from clusters of Easter lilies. Tall sheaves of lilies, tied with white satin ribbons, marked the pews reserved for members of the two families.

Joseph Ragan, organist of All Saints, furnished a program of nuptial music while the wedding guests assembled. Serving as ushers were Thomas B. Paine, Dr. LeRoy Clarks, Harold Eberole, J. Maxwell Couper Jr., Ryburn Clay and James Johnston. Miss Martha Sheridan, of Columbus, Ohio, was the bride's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids included Oklahoma: Mrs. Dulany Fitch, of Bowling Green, Ky.; Misses Dorothy Shivers, Sara Jenkins, Eloise Gresham and Catherine Gray.

The bridegroom wore a tuxedo, and the bride wore a gown of white silk, fashioned on princess lines over tulle. The bridesmaids wore blue, and the flower girls wore white. The bride's train was a long, flowing affair, and the bride's veil was long and full.

The bride's bouquet was a large one, containing a variety of flowers, including lilies, roses, and carnations. The bride's shoes were white, and she wore white gloves.

The bride's hair was styled in waves, and she wore a large diamond necklace. The bride's earrings were large and ornate, and she wore a large ring.

ing all the tints of the rainbow. The motif was repeated in smaller mounds of flowers at the ends of the tables. The cake table was graced with a beautiful, five-tiered wedding cake surrounded by swansons, white roses, white sweet peas and valley lilies. The punch bowls were embedded in pastel-shaded garden flowers.

Crystal and Silver Appointments. The exquisitely appointed bride's table was placed in the lounge of the hotel. In addition to the members of the wedding party, covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ludwig, of Miami. The mantel in the lounge was adorned with a mound of white larkspur and Easter lilies, and tall urns filled with lilies graced the console tables.

The oval-shaped bride's table was covered with glistening white satin, and the chairs were sheathed in white satin. In the center was an oval-shaped plateau of white roses, white sweet peas, swansons and valley lilies, from which arose a slender silver staff topped with a crystal glowing globe filled with similar white blossoms. Huge crystal globes filled with roses, sweet peas, swansons and valley lilies, graced the ends of the table, the edge of which was outlined with a garland of similar studded with white sweet peas and valley lilies. The appointments were entirely in silver and crystal.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorton and his bride left for New York from where they will sail Saturday on the LaFayette for a honeymoon in Europe. Mr. Lorton traveled in a smart dress suit of cocoa brown imported woolen, worn with a high-necked blouse of white pique. The fitted jacket flared at the waistline, and worn with the suit was a felt hat, shoes and accessories in luggage tan.

Upon their return from their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Lorton will reside in Tulsa, Okla., where they will form attractive additions to the younger married contingent.

Among the guests from a distance who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lorton, of Tulsa, parents of the groom; Mrs. Elizabeth Hatcher, of Miami, Fla., and Mr. Russell McKinney, of Charlotte, North Carolina.

DANIELS IS PLEASED WITH DEMOCRATIC MEET
PHILADELPHIA, June 24.—(AP)—Joseph Daniels, American ambassador to Mexico, a veteran convention observer, said today the 1936 democratic convention was the most enthusiastic he has ever attended.

"Coming here with the view in mind that everyone knew who would be nominated and there would be no great platform differences, I was of the opinion there would be interest in the convention but no enthusiasm," Daniels said.

"But I have never seen a political convention of more enthusiasm than has been demonstrated at this time. It is a sign that victory is in the air."

Daniels, who came here from his home in Raleigh, N. C., said he would go to Washington after the convention, leaving the capital city Sunday night for Laredo, Texas, where he would attend celebration July 1 of the opening of the new international highway to Mexico City.

Wears Classic Bridal Gown.
Presenting a picture of youthful beauty and engaging charm, the bride chose for her wedding a gown of magnolia satin cut on simple, classic lines. Moulded to her slender figure, the bodice introduced the rounded empire line in front, and a square-cut neckline which was finished with a pleated frill of satin which stood in the back to frame her lovely face in charming effect. The pleated frill was repeated at the wrist of the long, closely fitted satin sleeves. A narrow cascade of satin, edged with a frill of the gown, widened toward the hemline and extended to form a shimmering satin train several yards in length.

The bride's veil of illusion tulle was caught to a hand of exquisite duchesse lace, which was stiffened to form a halo and worn well back from her brow. The lace was brought from Europe by her grandmother, Mrs. L. W. Rogers. The soft folds of tulle which covered the train were gathered to a tiny wreath of orange blossoms at the base of the neck, leaving the bride's fair hair exposed to view. Completing the bridal ensemble was a bouquet formed entirely of valley lilies and cascading with valley lilies.

Following the church ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Rogers entertained at a brilliant reception at the Piedmont Hotel. The receiving party was formed by the bride's mother, Mrs. L. W. Rogers, and included the bride and groom, members of the wedding party, and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lorton, parents of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Rogers received her guests wearing a modish gown of Chantilly lace of a tea rose shade, and her hair was styled in waves. The costume featured a tunic skirt and puffed sleeves of lace. Worn with it was a horse-hair hat of the same shade, crowned with a lace veil. Her flowers were deep purple orchids. Mrs. Lorton chose for the occasion a becoming costume of shell pink chiffon, combined with lace, and worn with a wide-brimmed pink hat. A spray of pale pink orchids adorned her shoulder.

Mrs. L. W. Rogers, grandmother of the bride, was gowned in orchid chiffon and lace. Her straw hat in a deep shade of orchid was trimmed with purple velvet and her flowers were gardenias. Mrs. Henry Noble, paternal aunt of the bride, wore peach lace, caught with small bows of pale green ribbon, the note of green being repeated on her peach lace hat. Completing her costume was a shoulder cluster of gardenias. Mrs. Elizabeth Hatcher, of Miami, maternal aunt of the bride, wore Nile green chiffon and a wide-brimmed green hat. Her flowers were a shoulder cluster of gardenias.

The buffet tables were placed on the terrace. Adorning the center of each was a mound of summer garden flowers, including roses, snapdragons, larkspur and delphinium, and displaying

My Day

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

ELKINS, W. Va., Tuesday.—The hotel here is attractive and comfortable and was very pleasant last evening. I am more than glad that this award to a woman who has proved her ability to be of use to mankind could be given at the time of the Chu Omega convention.

They sponsor it every year, but it is not always given when their convention meets. As they have 89 chapters, made up largely of younger members, it seems a good thing for youth to be encouraged by the realization that there is some recognition for work well done. Young or old, no one could help being impressed by the meeting.

Dr. Alice Hamilton, the recipient, is sweet-faced, gentle and unassuming. A lovelier person can hardly be imagined. When she rose and said that in her field she had encountered very little opposition, your instinctive reaction was that no one could help wanting to be of service to her.

She went on to explain, however, that she chose the type of work which most men did not care to do, but which she considered a woman could do particularly well. She has proved the soundness of her judgment. I sat there thinking of the thousands and thousands of people in industry who owe their lives and their safety to her, because she had the courage to pioneer in research in industrial diseases.

It was fun to talk to the girls afterwards, and to find Mrs. Ellen Woodward, Dr. Mary Beard and Miss Kathryn Starbuck, of Skidmore College, there.

Eight o'clock this morning saw us on the road. Though I had not meant to go to Alderson prison, a note from Dr. Harris decided me. I made the little extra trip for fear I would not get there any other time this summer.

It is just as remarkable a place as when I was there before. Dr. Harris called an assembly and we all sang "America, the Beautiful" together. Then the colored girls sang a spiritual for me.

One little platinum blond, with her hair done as if she were about to appear on a night club floor, and dressed in her farm overalls, was both pathetic and more attractive than she has probably been for many years.

"The Mikado" was being rehearsed and the stage was already decorated, beautifully done with a great deal of talent. The artist had to come to prison to discover her gift. I picked her out as she passed me because of her extremely interesting face. I hope she will have satisfaction and happiness from this new creative outlet which will wipe out much of her past.

Now we are on our way to Reidsville, late, but well repaid for our delay.

MRS. HELEN STANLEY SEEKS ALIMONY, CHILD
HUSBAND CHARGES WIFE WITH -Paying for Phone Calls From Atlanta Man.

CINCINNATI, June 24.—(AP)—Mrs. Helen Poindester Tillman Stanley, 38, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., asked $50,000 permanent alimony in a divorce suit filed today in domestic relations court in answer to a suit previously filed by her husband, Taylor Stanley, of about 1934 in Indian Hill.

Mrs. Stanley is the daughter of Colonel James Hammond Tillman, former lieutenant governor of South Carolina, a grandfather of George D. Tillman, who represented South Carolina in congress for 20 years, and a niece of United States Senator B. R. Tillman, of South Carolina.

Stanley, secretary of the American Laundry Machinery Corp., and president of the Aeronautical Corporation of America, charged that she had been paying for phone calls from Atlanta man.

In her answer, Mrs. Stanley charged her husband with slapping her in the face when she objected to him buying drinks for chorus girls. She denied charges made against her in Stanley's petition—that she was guilty of gross neglect and extreme cruelty, that she pawned jewelry and household effects to gamble, that she threatened her husband's life and that of his father, E. B. Stanley, president of the American Laundry Machinery Corp., that she had received charges on telephone calls she received from men in Indianapolis and Atlanta and that she ignored their small child.

In addition to the divorce and permanent alimony, Mrs. Stanley asked an allowance of $1,000 a month for support of herself and her son, Ethan Bates Stanley, 4 years old; $1,000 a month for the support of her son, Ethan Bates Stanley, 4 years old; $1,000 a month for the support of her son, Ethan Bates Stanley, 4 years old; $1,000 a month for the support of her son, Ethan Bates Stanley, 4 years old.

Friendly Counsel

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.
Professors of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Four cents per word. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield: We are an engaged couple and expect to be married some time this year. We are planning to live in a three-room apartment and both keep on with our present jobs until he gets the promotion that will enable us to live on his salary. We would appreciate your telling us what problems we will have to face and how to overcome them, and what each of us should do and expect from the other to insure a happy and successful marriage.

"MARRIAGE-MINDED COUPLE."

Answer: Perhaps the true story of a couple whose case is much like yours will be the best answer to the double-barreled question you ask. This husband and wife budget their combined incomes and live by the budget. There are no money arguments. Their household machinery runs so smoothly that there is no friction on this score. They have outside interests separately and together, so neither leeches on the other. They live as though they would never have any more money than they have at the present but they work and save in such a sensible way that they are certain to get ahead.

Husband and wife take turn about getting up in the morning to make toast and coffee which gives each of them half hour's extra rest every other day. When the wife goes to work she leaves her order at the grocery store and picks up the package when she comes home in the evening. They have their midday meal in the business district, and separately, because they have different lunch periods. The two of them prepare the evening meal, wash the dishes and set things to rights for the morning after. There are no arguments about who does what. They do everything together, even when they have guests in for meals. So much for the ménage.

Love and material matters become inextricably mixed soon after the ceremony. There never was a man and woman who could live in sweet accord if they couldn't come to an agreement about money. There never was a husband who wouldn't fight with his wife over food if she gave him half a chance. There never was a wife who didn't assume the martyr attitude if she was left with all the heavy lifting to do in connection with the household. When she is working just as her husband is, she is all the more likely to expect help with the hauling.

Our true-story couple has a good design for living outside as well as inside their home. The wife belongs to several civic, cultural and church clubs and is active in them. She does not always succeed in drawing her husband in with her but on occasions when she can't, he has fish of his own to fry. Sometimes he goes out with friends, sometimes he sits at home and reads, but there is no hard-feeling when he is left to his own devices. Included in their budget is a fund for pleasure and they take their pleasures together. They have every insurance against entangling alliances, against boredom, against debt and their stage is set for a family when they can afford to have one.

These are the more important of the problems that present themselves to the newly married pair living on the 50-50 plan and if these large problems are met and mastered the little ones will take care of themselves. CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

... Far more of the costly ingredients in this marvelous new type of salad dressing

I'LL TRY IT, JUDY, BUT I'M AFRAID I WON'T AGREE. I'VE BOUGHT LOTS OF DRESSINGS AND NOT ONE COULD COMPARE WITH HOMEMADE.

I THOUGHT SO, TOO... TILL I TASTED THIS.

WHY, JUDY, YOU'RE RIGHT! I LIKE IT FAR BETTER THAN ANY OTHER KIND OF DRESSING I EVER TASTED!

THAT'S WHAT EVERYBODY SAYS ABOUT MIRACLE WHIP SALAD DRESSING! THERE'S NOTHING LIKE IT!

When you're tempted to buy a "bargain" salad dressing, remember this: in many salad dressings offered for sale today the costly ingredients are deliberately skimmed. Some contain even less of these choice ingredients than the bare minimum standard that was approved by the government.

The special Miracle Whip recipe, on the other hand, calls for an abundance of these costly ingredients. Miracle Whip is a skillful cross between mayonnaise and old-fashioned boiled dressing—a wholly new type of salad dressing with a unique flavor that millions prefer to that of any other kind of dressing.

Miracle Whip is very moderately priced. But it naturally costs a little more than the many so-called salad dressings which are made primarily to sell at a low price.

Copyright 1936 by Kraft-Phenix Cheese Corporation

Millions prefer it! . . Different—totally different—from all other salad dressings

To many, many women Miracle Whip's wonderful flavor came as a complete surprise.

They were convinced, utterly convinced, that the dressing they had been using was finer by far than any other kind. Whether it was one they made themselves, or a favorite brand they bought, to them it was absolute "tops" in salad dressings.

Yet today these same women—and there are literally millions of them—definitely prefer Miracle Whip to any other kind of dressing in the world!

Miracle Whip is different from all other salad dressings, totally unlike ordinary commercial mixtures. To make it, Kraft created a new type of recipe . . . a unique cross between boiled dressing and true mayonnaise. Miracle Whip contains far more of the costly ingredients that make the difference between fine and ordinary salad dressings. And it is blended a special, exclusive way in Kraft's own Miracle Whip beater.

Miracle Whip is very moderately priced. Of special interest to Atlanta women—Miracle Whip is made right in this city in Kraft's own spic-and-span tiled kitchen!

SIMMONS' SATURDAY NIGHT

How a Guileless Cattleman Saw the Sights in Houston.

INSTALLMENT I.

One fine Saturday afternoon a young man got off the 9:10 p. m. Katy train at Houston depot, and looked about him in rather a bewildered way. He was deliciously pastoral in his appearance, and presented an aspect almost as rural as that of the young countryman upon the stage as depicted by our leading comedians. He wore a very long black coat of the cut that has perpetuated the name of the late Prince Albert, such as is seen on Sundays at country churches, a pair of pantaloons too short for his somewhat lengthy limbs, and a wondrously tied scarf of deep crimson spotted with green. His face was smoothly shaven, and wore a look of deep wonder, if not apprehension, and his blue eyes were stretched to their widest as he viewed the sights about him. In his hands he carried a long carpet bag of the old style, made of some shiny substance resembling black oil cloth.

This young gentleman climbed nervously upon an electric car that was pointed out to him as going into the center of the city, and held his carpet bag upon his knees, clasping it with both hands, as if he distrusted the other people upon the car.

As the car started again with a loud hum and scattering of sparks, he grasped the arm of the seat in such a startled way that the conductor could not repress a smile.

When the young man was approached for fare, he opened the carpet bag, pulled out a lot of socks and handkerchiefs, and after searching for some time drew forth an old-fashioned beaded purse from which he drew a nickel and handed it to the conductor.

When the car arrived at Main street the young man requested that it be stopped and climbed off. He wandered up the side walk, stopping to look with awe and admiration in the jeweler's windows, and his long boot heels and awkward, mincing gait caused much amusement to passers-by.

Then it was that a well-dressed gentleman wearing a handsome light Melton overcoat happened to pass, and his beautiful Malacca gold-headed cane accidentally touched the elbow of the verdant-looking young man.

"I beg a thousand pardons," said the well-dressed gentleman.

"It's all right, pardner," said the young man with a friendly smile. "You ain't done no damage. You can't phase a Texas cow man with no plaything like that. Don't mention it."

The well-dressed man bowed, and went leisurely on his way. The young man stumbled on up Main street to a corner, then turned in an aimless way to the right and walked another block. There he looked up and saw the illuminated clock in the market house tower, and drawing from his vest a large watch and after gazing up at it with a key and set its hands with the clock in the tower. While he was doing this a well-dressed gentleman carrying a gold-headed Malacca cane slipped past and walked softly down the shady side of the street, stopped in a deep shadow and seemed to be waiting for some one.

About 15 minutes later the young man entered a restaurant on Congress street and took his seat timidly at a table. He drew another chair close to his side and deposited carefully therein his carpet bag. Five minutes later a well-dressed man with a gold-headed Malacca cane entered in a great hurry and after hanging up his silk hat, seated himself almost out of breath, at the same table. Then, looking up, he recognized the young man whom he had seen gazing in the jeweler's window, and smiling pleasantly remarked:

"Ah, we meet again, sir. I have just had a most exhausting race to catch a train. You see, I am paymas-

CAPTAIN VANCOUVER'S TRAVELS.

IV—Homeward Bound.

While making their journey around Vancouver island, the British explorers had an adventure. Late one afternoon the Discovery, larger of the two ships, was "grounded on a bed of rocks." The vessel was lightened as much as possible by tossing ballast overboard, but that did little good. When the tide rose, it caused the vessel to take a sudden swing, and the sailors feared for a few moments that she would be wrecked.

On his northward journey Captain Vancouver had failed to take due note of the Columbia river, but he learned that the American captain, Robert Gray, had discovered the now-famous strait. This led him, on his southward trip, to send the Chatham up the Columbia to see how far eastward a sailing vessel could go. The Chatham sailed about 20 miles up the river, then returned to the Pacific.

Farther to the south, Vancouver entered San Francisco bay and in his record of the trip he tells us that he saw about "35 Spanish soldiers who, with their wives, families and a few Indian soldiers composed the whole of the inhabitants of the Presidio, near the shore of the bay. A day or two later he visited the mission of San Francisco, a few miles distant, where Spanish clergy were trying to lead the Indians to change to the Christian faith.

Leaving San Francisco bay Vancouver sailed south until he reached another Spanish settlement, at the port of Monterey. There he had agreed to meet once more with his Spanish friend, Quadra. Again he was kindly received and he spent six weeks at Monterey. Quadra supplied him and his men with all the food they needed, and would not accept any money in return. Vancouver and Quadra came closer to agreeing on the meaning of the treaty between Great Britain and Spain, and in the end the Spaniards gave up all Pacific coast lands north of California.

After his southward journey Vancouver made a stop in an effort to locate the "Pueblo de los Angeles," meaning "Town of the Angels," but could not find it. He had been told that it was some miles from the coast. A person in modern times would not find Los Angeles hard to locate!

Later Vancouver and his men sailed around the southern end of South America, then northeast to England. The captain died at the age of 40, after finishing the fifth volume of the story about his great trip around the world.

Rain Postpones All Others in National; Twin Bills Today.

NEW YORK, June 24.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates held onto third place in the National league today by splitting a double-header with the Giants, winning the nightcap behind Jim Weaver's three-hit pitching after dropping the opener.

Carl Hubbell pitched the Giants to a 4-to-3 victory in the first game, while the Pirates scored all their runs in one inning to take the nightcap, 4 to 1.

Mel Ott's thirteenth homer of the season in the first inning, and a wild pitch by Relief Hurter Johnny Welch, of the Pirates, with the bases loaded in the ninth, forcing in the winning run, clinched the Giants' opening game victory.

Weaver's three-hit job in the nightcap was his ninth victory in five defeats. The only run scored off him came on Jim Ruppel's single, scoring Ott, who had walked.

By Jack Troy.

A battle of the champions will take place this week-end at the Capitol Gun Club, which is operated by young and personable Jack Troy. There will be champions here from Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, South Carolina and Georgia.

Two days of firing will be devoted to the southern zone, which will be preceded by a practice day Thursday. The regular events will get under way Friday morning.

The state champions will include: Florida—Tom Den. South Carolina—Paul Earl, Starr. Mississippi—J. M. Whitelaw, Tupelo. Tennessee—John Noel, Nashville. Alabama—R. C. Rick, Tusculum. Georgia—Dr. H. N. Alford, Atlanta.

In addition, there will be numerous other scatter-gun stars of national and international reputation. The feminine delegation will be headed by Mrs. Walter Andrews, former grand American champion.

U. S. Poloists Take Third Game

HURLINGHAM CLUB, LONDON.

June 24.—(AP)—Firing goals through the disorganized opposition defense almost at will, America's polo forces defeated Great Britain, 15 to 9, in the third and final game of the series for the international cup today.

The game was really an exhibition for the invaders had clinched the cup previously by beating the British, 10-9 and 8-6, in the first two matches of the series.

Although Winston Guest and Mike Phipps, who played in the first two matches, were replaced today by Bobby Strawbridge and Elbridge Gerry, the Americans carried far too many goals for the home team. Captain Humphrey P. Guinness, back for the British in the first two matches, was way this time to Captain George Prior-Palmer and the change resulted in a badly weakened defense.

Gerry scored eight goals for the winners but it was the No. 3, Stewart Iglehart, who was the main spring of the fierce American attack. Eric Pelly, at No. 2, scored four goals and Iglehart three. Strawbridge alone failing to score for the winners.

HAAS DEFEATS FEHLIG, KOKES; MEETS BARCLAY

L. S. U. Star Advances to Quarter-Finals of National Meet.

CHICAGO, June 24.—(AP)—A more or less orderly parade of favorites, paced as expected by Fred Haas Jr., of Louisiana State University, moved over the North Shore Club course today into the quarter-finals of the national intercollegiate golf tournament.

Haas, the medalist and the No. 1 choice to capture the crown that eluded him last year, devoted 29 holes for which he was one stroke under standard figures, to win his first two medal play matches. His first victim was Louis Fehlig, of Notre Dame, who went down, 8 and 6. His second foe, Wilbur Kokes, of Illinois, who won the Illinois amateur title last week, put up a livelier argument but was beaten, 2 and 1.

The southern star, who today was elected secretary and treasurer of the National Intercollegiate Golf Association, will make his next bid, over the course of the British Ryder cup, who shot a 71 over the comparatively easy Wallasey course yesterday, to furnish the drama in today's play.

Walter Smith, a caddy at Sunningdale, who shot a 71 over the comparatively easy Wallasey course yesterday, to furnish the drama in today's play.

Until Smith came in at the top of the field with his 71, Turner, who shot a 74 today to his 69 of yesterday.

Richard Burton, another British Ryder cup player, finished a stroke behind Smith and Allie, with 73-71-144, and a stroke ahead of Hector Thomson, newly crowned British amateur champion, Bert Gaid and George Johnson, all of Great Britain. Thomson shot the lowest score of the day, 68, over Wallasey. Gaid, who had toured the same layout yesterday in 68, fell off to a 77 today.

Sarazen was playing spectacular golf all day. He putted and recovered well, and this made up for inferior second shots to the greens. At the second hole he exploded out of the sand into the cup. He knocked in a 25-foot putt at the 14th and a 15-foot at the 16th.

Al Pelly, the defending champion, barely qualified. He shot a 76 over Holyoke for 154, one stroke under margin. Arthur Havers, another well-known British internationalist, was right on the line with 155, and Ernest Whitcombe, a member of the British Ryder cup team last year, shot himself out when he took a 73 at Wallasey for a total of 150.

GRADUATING CLASS
HEARS MRS. ROOSEVELT

REEDSVILLE, W. Va., June 24.—(AP)—A graduating class of three heard Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt declare today "you have to give every single thing in you to make life successful."

The two girls and one boy are the first graduates of the high school at Reedsville, a homestead community sponsored by the federal government. They are children of one-time coal miners moved to the little community in northern West Virginia's hills after lack of business forced their fathers from work in the mines.

Mrs. Roosevelt spent last night with Miss Elsie Clapp, superintendent of the homestead schools. She planned to go to Washington tomorrow morning and possibly visit Philadelphia, where the democratic convention is under way, tomorrow afternoon.

SPEAKERBANKHEAD IS FETED AT HOME

"Mr. Will" Given Rousing Welcome Upon Return to Jasper.

JASPER, Ala., June 24.—(AP)—William Brockman Bankhead, first from his state to be speaker of the national house of representatives, returned to his home town today amid the lusty cheers of throngs which assembled to honor him.

Streets were lined with "Mr. Will's" friends and neighbors as he headed a parade of gaily decorated automobiles. With him sat Mrs. Bankhead.

Many of the state's notables followed as the procession drove through the little city to the speaker's stand erected in front of the courthouse, facing the town square. A new burst of cheering broke out as Speaker Bankhead walked out on the platform.

Brief welcome addresses from representatives of each county in the seventh district, which the speaker has represented in congress since 1916, preceded Bankhead's talk.

SEN. SMITH QUILTS PARTY CONVENTION

Caroliner Has Tilt With Gov. Jernon Johnston and Objects to Negroes.

PHILADELPHIA, June 24.—(AP)—Aroused by the presence of negro delegates and other things, Senator Ellison D. Smith, a delegate-at-large from South Carolina, said today he was "through" with the democratic national convention.

Smith and some other members of the South Carolina delegation left the convention floor when today's session was opened with a prayer by a negro minister.

"I'm through. I'm sick and tired of the whole damn thing. I'll go home and do some talking," he said.

Prior to his statement he was "through" with the convention, there had been a misunderstanding between Smith, who has served 27 years in the senate, and Governor Olin D. Johnston, of South Carolina.

The senator was late arriving and Johnston temporarily had loaned his delegate badge. Smith said he had found "no badge, no reservations, no nothing." Johnston had retorted that "he better be thankful that he got here as a delegate."

Claud Sapp, chairman of the delegation, said he had no intention of leaving the convention and minimized the demonstration led by Smith.

Senator James F. Byrnes was not on the floor and declined comment on Smith's action. One of those who left the floor with Smith during the prayer was Mayor Burnett Maybank, of Charleston. The mayor, however, said he had no intention of quitting the convention.

Officials Purchased Fake Tickets;
Indictments To Be Sought Today

C. Winfield Jones, 68-year-old self-styled state organizer of the "Roosevelt-for-President-Again Clubs of Georgia" said to be an unauthorized organization selling spurious Roosevelt campaign fund tickets, was reported yesterday to have "taken in" a couple of county officials, who plunked down good money for the tickets during Jones' high-pressure selling campaign.

Lewis P. Jones, well-known attorney of the solicitor general's office, disclosed yesterday he had purchased one of the "Roosevelt-for-President-Again" tickets, and paid $1.50 for the ticket instead of the prescribed $1, throwing in the extra half-dollar in a desire to "help out" a little more.

Deputy Sheriff Buys.

The second county employee to become a bona fide member of the "Roosevelt-for-President-Again" club was Gus Howard, Fulton county deputy sheriff and son of Judge G. H. Howard, of the Fulton superior court.

Detective J. T. Woodruff, who, with Detective Lieutenant J. A. McKibben and Detective E. J. Hildebrand, arrested Jones Monday afternoon, said yesterday indictments on 10 or a dozen counts would be sought tomorrow.

Original intentions of seeking separate indictments against Jones on each ticket sold by him and a staff of salesmen who said he had employed there were dropped when it became apparent that approximately 25,000 of the $1 tickets had been sold in the Atlanta area, Detective Woodruff said.

Modus Operandi.

Investigation into the operations of the alleged self-appointed "campaign" fund-raiser by detectives indicated the salesmen received 25 cents for each $1 ticket sold over the telephone and the

5 PERSONS BITTEN
BY RABID MONKEY

Maddened Animal Is Finally Killed After Rousing Church Throng.

PLACENTIA, Cal., June 24.—(AP)—Because of a mad monkey's neighborhood rampage, five persons were under rabies treatment tonight and authorities sought a sixth victim, probably unaware of his danger.

The ten-pound rhesus monkey was shot to death Sunday night after it scampered into a church, scattered the congregation of 175 persons and scratched a high school girl.

Police marksmen pursued the rabid animal and killed it as it sat in a choir room tearing hymn books to shreds.

First victim of the monkey's sudden rage was Willis Hasson, its owner, bitten as the pet escaped Sunday afternoon.

From the Hasson home the monkey raced around the neighborhood, clawed J. T. Johnson, a neighbor who tried to catch it, and bit Esther Gonzales, 24, as it headed for the nearby church.

The animal dashed into the church just as evening services were drawing to a close. It bounded about in the congregation and clawed Miss Bobbie Jerome, a high school girl, before seeking refuge in the choir room. Efforts of police to rout it with tear gas were unavailing.

Early last week the monkey, a household pet, bit Mrs. Thelma Sibley while she was feeding it but at the time there was no indication the animal was rabid.

Dr. K. H. Sutherland, head of the Orange county health department, said he believed the prompt application of the Pasteur treatment to the five persons had averted any danger of serious infection. He said he had a report a sixth person, unidentified, had been bitten or scratched by the animal.
